McGroarty Pleads For Support Of Townsend Measure

CALIFORNIAN IN STIRRING HOUSE TALK

Solons Warned They Face Political Oblivion if They Fail to Back Plan

LAUDS DR. TOWNSEND

Says 30,000,000 Persons Have Signed Petition and Not All "Cockeyed"

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(UP)—John Steven McGroarty, D., poet laureate of California, appealed to house members today to back the Townsend old age pension plan and asserted that otherwise they will face political oblivion.

The elderly Californian, speaking during general debate on the security bill, failed to give an attentive audience details of the Townsend program which he is sponsoring in the house.

He asked the house, instead, to remember that "God's beloved old people are out yonder watching every move you make here."

"Get in line," pleaded McGroarty in his mellow, quivering voice. "Get in line so you'll come back next session. I won't return to the next congress, but you are all good fellows and I want you to come back."

"We are proposing an honest-to-God old age pension," said McGroarty. "It's the vision of a man much sneered at and jeered at here, but those who know Dr. Townsend know he's too good a man to be sneered at. He's honest as the rain. He is a scientific and an educated man. Shame on those who jeer."

"Many of them are not fit to wipe the dust off his shoes. As for those who say the program is 'cockeyed' and 'full of bedbugs,' do you want to call the 30,000,000 Townsend petitioners 'crazy as bedbugs'? You're talking about God's beloved old people. They resent it."

"The revised Townsend bill is the most scientific and statesmanlike bill ever introduced in a congress. One reason why is that I didn't write it."

LAURA INGALLS HOPS OFF FOR NEW YORK CITY

Woman Flier Hopes to Set New Non-stop Flight Record for Women

UNION AIR TERMINAL, BURLINGAME, Cal., April 16.—(UP)—Laura Ingalls, a blue-eyed, nervous appearing young woman, who looks for all the world like a schoolgirl, was winging her way toward New York today in a sleek, black monoplane in which she hoped to set a trans-continental non-stop woman's record.

Topped in a smart brown outfit of brown slacks and jacket, and topped with a chic beret that melted into her curly brown hair, the daring aviatrix who aspires to be the world's greatest woman flier, hopped into her $40,000 Lockheed "Vendetta" shortly after daybreak and sailed into the gray-blue dawn of the morning at 5:10 a. m. PST.

Miss Ingalls arrived at the airport at 4 a. m. and watched her plane, a Wasp supercharged motor that she confidently expected would carry her to Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y., in 15 hours, clipping more than two hours off Amelia Earhart Putnam's 1933 record of 17 hours, 7 minutes and 30 seconds.

The flier had little to say as she gave the big ship a final inspection while it sat on the runway with 575 gallons of gasoline—enough to carry her 3600 miles.

She climbed into the ship while the motor was warming up, stowed away a lunch of sandwiches, buttermilk and coffee, pulled on a brown leather flying suit and in a few minutes was roaring down the runway.

The plane swerved slightly under its 3400 pound weight of gasoline, but Miss Ingalls pulled it off the ground 2500 feet farther down the field.

Giant Plane Set For Hop To Honolulu

Start, Depending on Weather, Set For Late Hour This Afternoon

LAMEDA AIRPORT, Calif., April 16.—(UP)—A giant four-motored air liner, the last word in equipment and luxury, was poised today for the take-off of a transpacific flight which will open a new era in aviation history.

Its destination was Honolulu, the first mid-ocean stop on a proposed commercial flying service which will reach all the way to China, almost 5000 miles across water.

With the start depended entirely on weather conditions, the Pan American Airways Oriental Clipper was expected to get under way between 3:30 and 4:00 p. m. to open a new phase of navigation over the ocean which the eyes of white men first saw 400 years ago when Balboa gazed on the blue waters from the isthmus of Panama.

Within 18 hours after the plane enters the air from a specially constructed water runway off the airport, the crew headed by Capt. Edward C. Musick, 42-year-old veteran of 1,000,000 miles of flying, expects to be dining in the capital of the islands which Captain Cook opened to westerners.

Leisurely Flight
The flight will be a leisurely one, its sole purpose is to blaze a trail which future clipper ships will follow in weekly or possibly more frequent flights with passengers, mail and express late this summer.

The calm methodical spirit of commercial navigation dominated the present attempt to span the 2400 miles of ocean over which other men in all types of planes, from pontoonless biplanes to the latest development in naval flying boats, have flown since Lieutenant Itzenberger of the U. S. Army made the initial flight in 1927.

Weeks of preparations preceded today's attempt. The Oriental

"BABY" BLIZZARDS GRIP MIDDLE WEST
CHICAGO, April 16.—(UP)—Gusty "baby" blizzards drove spring far back into the southland today and threatened destruction of fruit and field crops in virtual-ly all the middle west.

Government forecasters said temperatures may rise late today to nearly normal levels but warn-ers gardeners and farmers to keep smudge pots burning and truck beds covered overnight. They ex-pected minimums of 20 to 25 de- grees this morning from Canada to Kentucky and Montana to Pennsylvania.

COUNTY PREPARES TO LEASE 70 ACRES OF TIDELANDS AT H. B. TO GILMORE OIL FIRM

DEVELOPMENT of a reputedly rich ocean oil pool off the beach of Orange county, at the western edge of Huntington Beach, with the county and state sharing in royalties, was impending today as the county supervisors prepared to lease the tidelands covering the pool to the Gilmore Oil Company.

A special meeting of the super- visors for next Friday at 1:30 p. m. was fixed today when the board conferred with Stuart M. Salisbury, Los Angeles attorney representing the Gilmore Oil company, upon arrangements for the proposed lease.

A special act of the legislature, ceding the tidelands, now owned by the state, to Orange county, will be necessary as a preliminary to the lease, it was said.

Chairman John Mitchell, who stated that the proposal of the oil company has been taken under ad- visement until the special meeting Friday, said that the legislative act if the board decided to accept the proposal. Such acceptance is said to be virtually assured.

"The county would receive a royalty of two per cent of produc- tion from the pool, whereas at present the county is getting nothing from it," Mitchell commented. The state, he added, would receive 15 per cent royalty if the plan is carried out.

The area in question comprises about 70 acres located 500 feet from shore, part of it within the city limit of Huntington Beach. The state has been busy defending the pool in recent months from whistock oil drillers operating from land wells, defeating such in- vasion by a series of injunction suits in superior court, which forced various operators to enter an agreement to pay royalties to the state.

The county, it is understood, would participate in such royalties if the pool is ceded by the state to the county.

GOVERNMENT IS PLANNING BODY DEFIED TODAY FOR PWA FUNDS BY HUEY LONG GETS APPROVAL

Attacks Ickes Statement on How PWA Funds Must Be Spent in State

BATON ROUGE, La., April 16.—(UP)—Sen. Huey P. Long today defied the federal government to withdraw a $1,800,000 PWA allotment from Louisiana, and said: "Secretary of Interior Ickes can go slam-bang to hell for all I care."

The Kingfish's comment came after he read a statement by Ickes that PWA money allotted to Louisiana must be spent under conditions specified when the money was borrowed.

New Council Takes Oath From Clerk

Third Ward Councilman is Unanimous Choice to Be Board President

TODAY it's Mayor Fred C. Rowland. This veteran rancher of Santa Ana, who polled the highest popular vote of any council candidate in last week's election, was chosen chairman of the board of trustees last night at the organization meeting of the new council.

The motion for the election of Rowland was made by Joseph P. Smith, seconded by Plummer Bruns, and carried unanimously. "I will give my associates, and the voters and taxpayers of Santa Ana the best I have," the new mayor declared in a brief acceptance speech.

Rowland's first official act was to administer the oath of office to Ed L. Vegely, re-elected city clerk, who had previously sworn in all other city officers to the accomplishment of applause from those present.

Organization of the new council was completed shortly after 11 o'clock, after nearly three hours had been consumed in counting absent voters' ballots, canvassing the election returns, and winding up the affairs of the retiring council.

Smith remains sewer and water commissioner and William Penn remains fire commissioner, according to appointments made by Rowland shortly after assuming the mayor's chair.

Plummer Bruns becomes police commissioner, a post formerly held by Rowland, and Ernest H. Layton, newly elected council member from the fourth ward, became street commissioner.

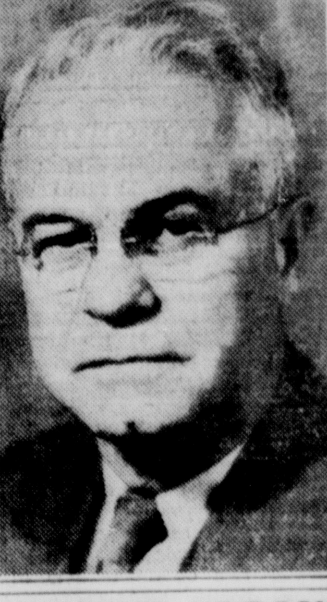

Among the actions of the new council was the acceptance of bonds of various city officers as required by law, including Margaret L. Esau, treasurer, $50,000; Lew Blodgett, new city attorney, $10,000; Floyd W. Howard, marshal, $25,000, and E. L. Vegely, clerk, $10,000.

The city clerk was instructed to write a letter to "Townsend clubs Nos. 2 and 7, thanking them for an invitation to attend a pot luck dinner meeting at the First Christian church Friday evening.

Announcement of appointive city officers, and an application by C. E. Lawrence of Long Beach for license to operate a retail lumber yard in the 1400 block on South Main street was held over until the next meeting.

CHOSEN MAYOR

Fred C. Rowland, councilman from the third ward, who last night was elected mayor of the city of Santa Ana by unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

FEDERAL GRANT TO SELF HELP BODY APPROVED

SERA Gives $10,000 Today to San Jose Co-operative Organization

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—(UP)—The state emergency relief administration today announced approval of a $10,000 federal grant to a San Jose self-help cooperative to enable the organization to carry on large-scale farm and agricultural processing operations.

At the same time, it was indicated that proposals to have counties purchase supplies from self-help groups had met extensive official opposition. The proposal, advanced by SERA officials, drew expressions of disfavor from seven representatives of the California Association of Supervisors, Frank Y. McLaughlin, administrator, reported to the state relief commission.

The supervisors' group explained they viewed the commodities produced by cooperatives in the same light as prison-made goods—that it should not be placed in competition with private industry.

McLaughlin said Los Angeles county, through Auditor Herbert A. Payne, indicated willingness to accept bids from self-help groups. The plan was to be placed before the various counties by mail this week.

The grant to the San Jose concern was the largest made to date to a similar California organization. Relief commission officials also said it was the first such grant made since a study was begun of the relative merits of work projects and cooperative measures as means of relief.

W. Bert Hughes, SERA self-help official, said the San Jose unit has a record of two years of successful operations. Its 75 members engage in farming, livestock raising, dehydrating and fur-

RESOLUTION PRESENTED TO COUNCIL

Great Britain, France and Italy Adopt Firm, United Front at Conference
VOTE ON WEDNESDAY

Declares Treaty Violations to Be Dealt with as Covenant Provides GENEVA, April 16.—(UP)—Great Britain, France and Italy adopted steam roller tactics today to force through the council of the League of Nations a resolution strongly condemning Germany for re-armament in violation of the Versailles treaty.

The three powers adopted a firm, united front and the passage of the resolution tomorrow virtually was assured.

The resolution implicitly provided that treaty violations shall be dealt with by the members of the league as provided in the covenant, thus opening the way for economic penalties against Germany if necessary.

The council adjourned without taking a vote. When the vote is reached, Denmark and Poland, who oppose such strong condemnation of Germany, probably will abstain. A unanimous vote is required, which the abstentions would permit.

The resolution says that the council "declares that Germany has failed in the duty which lies on all members of the international community to respect undertakings which they contracted and condemns any unilateral repudiation of international obligations."

Further, the resolution said, "this unilateral action, by introducing a new and disturbing element into the international situation, must necessarily appear to be a threat to European security."

SEAMEN JAILED IN PORTLAND RIOTING

PORTLAND, Ore., April 16.—(UP)—Four union seamen were in jail here today following three outbreaks of violence in widely separated parts of the city during the night.

One service station was bombed, another wrecked with clubs and a restaurant and guards were wrecked.

Those arrested were William Moore, who was found driving the car seen at two of the clashes; Joseph O'Brien and Marcus Weisbarth, who were picked up as they entered the seamen's union headquarters, and Henry Lewis, owner of the car, who was arrested when he went to headquarters to bail out Moore.

At 11:30 p. m., a service station near the Oregon end of the Columbia river interstate bridge was bombed. All windows were broken and the gasoline pumps wrecked.

PRISON STRIKE IN OHIO IS CONTINUED

COLUMBUS, O., April 16.—(UP)—The "passive resistance" strike or more than 1000 Ohio penitentiary convicts continued today despite Warden James Woodard's efforts to persuade the men to return to the prison workshops.

Warden Woodard talked with the strikers for an hour, trying to reason with them. The convicts sat stolidly by their machines and tools, but refused to work.

The prisoners demanded more paroles and fewer delays by the parole board. There was no violence.

"Not enough of us are getting out, warden," one of the prisoners said.

EXPOSITION BILLS ARE RECOMMENDED

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—(UP)—Passage of a series of bills looking toward expositions in San Francisco and Los Angeles in 1937 and 1938 was recommended today by the assembly constitutional amendments committee.

The amendments would set up the necessary machinery to permit financing of the two expositions and give authority to commissions to manage the two celebrations in honor of the completion of Boulder dam in the south and the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridges in the north.

The constitutional amendments proposed would authorize the issuance of $10,000,000 in state bonds, $5,000,000 for each of the proposed expositions. In addition the county of Los Angeles would be authorized to issue an additional $5,000,000 in bonds to match the state issue.

LONDON AIR PLANS TOLD IN COMMONS

LONDON, April 16.—(UP)—Sir John Gilmour, home secretary, announced in the house of commons today that an air defense headquarters under the home office had been opened to instruct local authorities as well as the public in means of protection against air raids.

Britain's plans for air defense have been considerably speeded up by revelation of the strength of Germany's air fleet, already at least equal to Britain's.

Sir Philip Sassoon, undersecretary for air, told commons a few days ago Germany's air force for rearmament of the British government "grave concern" and indicated the British program would be accelerated still further.

BASEBALL RESULTS

BULLETIN
BOSTON, April 16.—(UP)—Babe Ruth celebrated his debut as a member of the Boston Braves today by knocking a home run into the right field stands in the fifth inning of the game with the New York Giants.

CHICAGO, April 16.—(UP)—Jerome (Dizzy) Dean was hit in the ankle by a batted ball in the season-opener between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs and was carried off the field.
Dean was hit by Fred Lindstrom, Cubs third baseman, who was at bat in the last half of the first inning. Lindstrom lined a drive directly at "Dizzy" who tried to field it. He was hit in the ankle before he could get his glove in front of the ball.

SEVEN MEN TRAPPED IN SHAFT OF MINE

STELLARTON, N. S., April 16.—(UP)—Seven men were trapped and believed killed and 189 fled to safety today when an explosion ripped through the 1500-foot level of the Allan shaft of the Acadia Coal Company mine. The blast tore down tangle supports, pouring tons of coal into the shaft.

The survivors, many slightly injured, were hauled from the pit two at a time.

Only the seven trapped were working in the immediate area where the explosion occurred.

Tons of rock poured into the pit, cutting off escape. The others dug their way through the debris into the central shaft.

PRISONER KILLED IN PRISON BREAK
FORT WORTH, Tex., April 16.—(UP)—One prisoner was killed and two were wounded today in a prison break at the Texas State Penitentiary.

An unsuccessful attempt by seven inmates of the county jail to escape from the fifth floor of the building.

Melvin Bowes, 34, brought here yesterday from Dallas where he was sentenced to 25 years for robbery, was shot through the heart and died instantly. Clarence Billingsley, 23-year-old ex-jockey, sentenced for theft and forgery, was shot in the thigh, and J. L. Kirk, shot 25 years sentence, was shot in the thigh.

PETROLEUM AGENCY PERSONNEL NAMED

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(UP)—Oil Administrator Harold L. Ickes today announced organization of the federal petroleum supervisory agency, to take over investigation of the hot oil situation in east Texas.

The new organization, he said, will coordinate activities now being conducted under the federal tender board and by Louis R. Glavis, chief investigator for the interior department.

The board will cooperate with the federal tender group, which is empowered to halt production of illegal oil by granting permits to oil producers to transport their products outside of Texas.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 16.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Now here is where this Hitler kinder has these other nations in the hole when they start yelling about his arming when he was supposed not to. In the treaty Germany was sent to arm for so many years, but—and here is the but, they were to disarm down to a certain point by then, now it's a question of "who has broke whose treaty." Trouble with all these treaties is, that the guys that make 'em are generally kicked out by the time they get home and the new bunch says, "that's not our signature." But nobody is fighting, so what's all the worry about?
Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Clippers has been flown 10,000 miles over water in an elaborate series of tests. In one nonstop flight, from Miami to the Virgin Islands, it flew 200 miles further than it will be called upon to make in today's flight.

Music in Charge

Its crew is the No. 1 crew of the Pan-American Airways, pioneers of trans-oceanic flying. Musick has flown more than 1,000,000 miles without a serious accident. R. O. D. Sullivan, second in command, is a former naval flyer.

The others of the crew of six are experts in their lines. Fred J. Noonan, 42, is navigating officer. Victory Wright, 32, is engineer. In charge of the four 700-horsepower motors which will drive the plane, W. Turner Jarboe, 26, has charge of the radio. Harry Canaday, 23, and the youngest of the crew, is junior flight officer.

Once at its destination the crew will make a series of training flights around the Hawaiian Islands, mapping possible landing places, charting the coast line and estimating wind drift and other data for future use.

According to present plans they will then return to California. Later in the year, when landing bases now being constructed on a chain of islands across the Pacific are completed, a flight over the entire route will be attempted. The plane on its initial flight will carry 10,000 pounds of mail, the special letter sent by philatelists eager to obtain cancelled stamps recording the epochal event.

DELEGATES TO DISTRICT MEET NAMED BY CLUB

Music, readings and an impromptu talk on subjects of current interest was the diversified entertainment last night afforded by the Santa Ana Country Club at the dinner meeting of the district committee.

Mrs. Thomas P. Douglas of the April committee, had charge of the program which followed immediately after the dinner hour, with business features introduced by the president, Mrs. Rose Walker, as the finale of the meeting.

Mrs. Douglas presented her husband as speaker, he having consented to give an impromptu talk after other program features had failed to materialize. "The Fiction of Facts" provided him with a theme, and his talk ranged from World War conditions to present day situations in national and international affairs, many of which are directly traceable to beliefs held during the war period.

Miss Esther Vort, a brilliant young pianist, added two Grieg numbers to the program, playing with rare technique and musical understanding. "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen" and "Butterflies." Another gifted young entertainer was Miss Geraldine Gilbert whose characterizations were much enjoyed in her readings. "The Young Man Wanted" and "She Powders Her Nose."

Business details included naming delegates to represent the club at the district convention to be held in Santa Ana Country club and Y. W. C. A. rooms April 27 and 28. Delegates elected were Mrs. Hazel Northcross, Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Artie Cleveland, with Mesdames Laura McNaught, Adelaide Cochran and Blanche Browning alternates.

Guests sharing the program included two former club members who were accorded warm welcome, Miss Mabel Wiseman of this city and Mrs. R. A. Cushman of Ukiah. Others introduced were Mrs. Ruth Riley and Mrs. Esther Morris.

Police News

H. Stanley of 1801 Spurgeon street has reported to police the theft of a light brown overcoat which was taken from his car yesterday.

Theft of two cartons of cigarettes, two boxes of candy bars, and eight cigars from the fruit stand adjoining the Davis service station near La Habra has been reported to the sheriff's office.

Milton Simmons, member of the Trabuco CCC camp, was booked at the county jail yesterday on the charge of stealing chickens from the Glenn ranch. The official charge is burglary.

Bookings at the county jail yesterday included John Dorado, 26, of Atwood, drunk driving; Chester T. Stuffy, 42, San Pedro, violating probation; Guadalupe Ramirez, 40, La Habra, possession of firearms; by alien; Gregorio Barajas, 31, of Delhi, assault; Teleforo Aldama, 27, Watts, violating probation; Earl Bell, 20, Huntington Beach, violating probation.

Crescencio Arce of Placentia reported to sheriff's officers yesterday the theft of a shotgun, watch, leather jacket, pecked dagger, and head necklace. The articles were taken from the home Sunday while the family was at church.

MILLION DOLLAR SMUGGLING RING BELIEVED BROKEN UP BY L. A. FEDERAL OFFICIALS

(Copyright, 1935, by the United Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—(UP)—A million-dollar-a-year international smuggling ring which relayed illicit jewelry and narcotics from the Orient through Mexico into the United States by steamers and airplanes was believed broken today by Federal authorities.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Ayres of Los Angeles county disclosed alleged operations of the giant ring after he announced the arrest by Mexican officials of a man who gave the name of Alex Taylor. Taylor was taken into custody as he stepped off a Pan-American Air liner at Guadalajara, Mexico.

Ayres said he had been informed of the arrest by Mexican authorities and that part of a consignment of gems had been recovered here by Chief Customs Officer Archie Hanson.

The asserted smugglers were said to have maintained offices in the Orient and carried on their operations by sending illegal consignments on vessels which were contacted by airplanes off the coast of Mexico, from where they were flown into the United States.

Taylor, customs officials said, was arrested on information from police at Mazatlan, Mexico, who reported he left there with $60,000 worth of diamonds.

Ayres said he was reportedly held on charges of bringing gems into the United States without reporting to Mexican or American officials.

Taylor, according to reports received here, was followed until he departed for Mexico in a Pan-American airliner and after his arrest was taken by Mexican officials to Mexico City, where he is believed to have maintained a jewelry store.

Customs officials said he recently became a Mexican citizen and will be held in custody of that government until American officials place charges against him.

The investigation into the alleged ring was started by American authorities after it was reported airplanes were seen flying low near here, dropping packages into dry washes.

Mazatlan police were called into the investigation and were asked to trace movements of persons suspected of being involved in the smuggling operations.

Authorities said they believed the airplanes sighted near here recently had obtained their illicit cargoes from steamers off the coast of Mexico.

Federal officials were said to be seeking confederates in Los Angeles who disposed of the goods after it was dropped from the planes.

PLANNING BODY FOR PWA FUNDS GETS APPROVAL

$100,000,000 to $200,000,000 for the elimination of grade crossings in the United States," Cunningham said in explaining the bill. "It has been stated that California will get approximately $33,000,000 from this fund. It is therefore necessary to comply with federal requests in order to get this allocation of money for California."

All public works projects must be submitted to the state planning boards of the various states for approval and recommendation. The board which Cunningham's bill would create would be empowered to examine and recommend all proposed California projects which would be constructed under the fund.

California already has a planning board, appointed by the late Governor James Rolph Jr. in January, 1934. The new commission would have its powers extended to act as a coordinating agency for federal, state and local agencies. Members would serve without pay.

The commission would consist of the director of finance, director of public works, director of natural resources and five laymen appointed by the governor.

Passage of the Cunningham bill was a highlight in early legislative activities today.

Picnics and Reunions

TEXAS

The Annual Texas San Jacinto Day picnic and roundup will be held Sunday, April 28, at Sylvanmore grove park, Los Angeles. This is expected to be the largest and most successful gathering of former residents of the Lone Star State ever held in the West. A full day of entertainment has been arranged.

Zack Lamar Cobb, the silver tongued orator, and Judge Ben B. Lindsay will be the principal speakers of the day. Chief of Police James E. Davis, a former Texan, and his internationally famous pistol team will furnish an exhibition of pistol shooting. Stewart Hamblin with his Texas cowboys and Jimmie and his Sadie Pals will furnish their share of the day's entertainment. The Texas Polo team and many film stars have been invited to attend. One of the many prizes to be awarded will go to the Texan who has lived longest in California.

All former Texans and their friends are invited to attend and to bring a basket lunch prepared to enjoy a complete day of entertainment with their fellow Long Horns.

ENGLISH JOCKEY DIES

CHELTEMHAM, England, April 16.—(UP)—William Speck, one of England's foremost steeplechase jockeys, died today of a spine fracture which he suffered when his mount fell at Cheltenham April 10.

ARGUMENTS IN MURDER TRIAL GIVEN TO JURY

Superior Judge H. G. Ames' courtroom today rang with impassioned oratory as attorneys for prosecution and defense pleaded their respective causes with the jury in the case of Dr. Francis D. Coltrin, of Fullerton, charged with an illegal operation and murder of a 16-year-old Santa Ana High school girl.

Following opening addresses yesterday afternoon by Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis and by O. A. Jacobs, of defense counsel, Attorney Sharpless Walker began his closing summation for the defense late yesterday, and finished shortly before noon today after two hours and 35 minutes of speaking.

District Attorney S. B. Kaufman then began closing argument for the prosecution, indicating that he would complete his speech in far less time than was occupied by Walker. With the court's charge to the jury to follow Kaufman's address, it was expected that the case would reach the jury late this afternoon.

Defense attorneys, in pleading for their client's acquittal, hammered away at what they termed failures of the prosecution to prove, first that the girl was in a condition that required an operation, and secondly, that Dr. Coltrin had performed such operation, which the state claims was responsible for her death on February 14.

They pointed out various asserted alternative causes that might have produced the same result. Walker, reaching high flights of eloquence at times, concluded with a simple plea for "justice."

Davis and Kaufman, on the other hand, declared that they had clearly and positively linked the girl's death to an illegal operation performed by the Fullerton physician. They too, wanted justice, they said, and were willing that the defendant should be given the benefit of any reasonable doubt, but no such doubt of guilt existed, they maintained.

The usual crowd that has jammed the courtroom during progress of the trial was on hand again today.

Knights Pythias to Confer First Rank

Santa Ana Lodge No. 149, Knights of Pythias, will initiate candidates in the first rank at the K. of P. hall, Fifth and Broadway, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. It was announced today by Chancellor Commander Floyd Stewart.

Due to the many interesting features of the evening, a large attendance is expected, Stewart said. Elaborate plans are to be made for the second of a series of free Pythian dances to be held at the K. of P. hall Wednesday, April 24, at 8:30 p. m. Music for the dance will be played by Frank Newman and his Laguna Beach orchestra. The public is cordially invited.

TRAVELER IS GUEST OF C. C. SECRETARY

Lately returned from a tour of Europe, including Russia, where he photographed numerous interesting and illuminative bits of Soviet athletics at Sequoia High school, life, Frank N. Griffin, director of Redwood City, was a guest over last night of Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Wood lived in Redwood City, where he was secretary of the chamber of commerce before giving up that position to become secretary of the local chamber of commerce.

Griffin's active and uncensored camera recorded a collection of intimate scenes behind the guarded soviet exterior which were sufficient to earn the displeasure of Russian government representatives here when he exhibited them on his return, he said. One of them shows several grave stones that have been taken from cemeteries to be converted into building material. Others deal with daily life of the workers, showing the sordid character of their existence.

nishing person services. The grant will be used to expand existing facilities and improve its dehydrator and other equipment.

"We expect the grant to reduce the relief cost of the organization's membership by 50 per cent," he said. "It is estimated the group reduced relief costs last year approximately $10,000 with allotments totaling $5962. Community approval of this project is noteworthy."

Meantime, Dr. E. Gregory Silvermaster, SERRA research director, disclosed California's relief costs during the full calendar year ending March 1, 1935, resulted in federal contributions of $68,438,871. State relief funds totaled $16,607,995, or 19.5 per cent of the total disbursed, he said.

LAURA INGALLS HOPS OFF FOR NEW YORK CITY

easily, rose gracefully and circled the airport. Miss Ingalls pulled up the retractable landing gear a short distance off the ground and in a few seconds the monoplane with its coal black shell, flattened out with its snub nose pointed eastward.

Weather bureau officials said a brisk southwest tail wind would aid her to achieve her goal. The plane has a cruising speed of 205 miles an hour, but airport attaches believed it would pick up more speed with the tailwind. Miss Ingalls planned to fly over Albuquerque, N. M., Kansas City and Cleveland en route to New York.

The resolution enunciated the following principles:

"Scrutiny of respect for all treaty obligations is a fundamental principle of international life and an essential condition for the maintenance of peace. . . . It is an essential principle of the law of nations that no power can liberate itself from engagements of a treaty nor modify the stipulations thereof unless with the consent of the contracting parties. . . . promulgation of the military law of March 16 by the German government conflicts with the above principles."

The commission would consist of the director of finance, director of public works, director of natural resources and five laymen appointed by the governor.

Passage of the Cunningham bill was a highlight in early legislative activities today.

SERA WORKERS TO BE USED IN FHA SURVEY

SERA workers will be used in the government's plan to employ 20 persons to launch a new phase of the Orange County Better Housing program under the National Housing Act in Santa Ana. It was announced today by Secretary Howard L. Wood of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

FHA officials of the government have selected this city as the first in this district where the new plan to further the better housing program will be started.

The SERA workers will arrange details of deals which will benefit those who plan improvements or new construction under the housing program. The work planned includes a continuance of the survey which resulted in securing 1300 prospects who wanted improvements and construction work amounting to more than a half-million dollars.

The new project will include establishment of schools to teach proper methods of approach and selling to dealers, contractors and others. Experts in financing, construction work and other phases of the program will be instructors for the classes.

A WORD OF COMFORT

As you build up physical health, your power of resistance multiplies and you develop immunity from some germs. As your vitality is increased you create capacity for quick recovery. The same thing is true with reference to dangers which beset the soul.

Regardless of what weakness you have evidenced, what griefs and sorrows you have to face, the strength which comes from communion with God is the decisive element in your progress unto spiritual wholeness, understanding and joy.

FINAL APPROVAL IS GIVEN BY PWA OFFICIAL

Active construction of Santa Ana's new city hall will start tomorrow, or Thursday at the latest, it became known last night at the city council meeting as the retiring council held its final session.

Definite word that construction may start at once was contained in a letter received from L. H. Walker, assistant engineer of the PWA in Los Angeles, that plans, specifications, and contracts are "heretofore approved," and construction may start when actual payment of government funds for the city's bonds is made.

Clyde Downing, retiring city attorney who has conducted all legal proceedings in connection with the city hall project, announced that all details are now arranged and that the bond money, now on deposit in the federal reserve bank at Los Angeles, will be transferred to Santa Ana by tomorrow, or Thursday at the latest, so that Ball and Honer, the contractors, can begin operations.

Permit Oil Drilling
Following posting of lands in the southwest part of the city during the past week regarding change of zone and failing to hear any protests, the retiring council adopted unanimously an ordinance which will permit oil drilling operations in the territory west of Bristol street and south of First street.

This is the territory covered by a community lease being signed by the Continental Oil company of approximately 1000 acres.

City Council Notes
A letter from Congressman Sam L. Collins thanking the council for its letter and resolution on the Townsend plan, was received and filed.

A recommendation from the city attorney that claim of the Byrnes Jackson Pump company against the city for $770.16 be settled without litigation was received and filed.

The resignation of Joel E. Ogle as assistant city attorney was accepted.

Louis C. Rogers of 207 North McClay street was granted permission to drive a taxicab for F. H. Williams.

Application of the Gilmore Oil company for permission to construct a service station at Seventeenth and Main streets was referred to the planning commission and the property ordered posted for special use.

An ordinance cancelling an old unused P. E. powerline franchise on South Main street was given final passage.

ACQUIT MOOSMAN OF NONSUPPORT

James Moosman, Montebello carpenter, was acquitted of failure to provide for his 20-year-old son and 18-year-old daughter at Fullerton, when a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court returned its verdict late yesterday.

The jury after hearing the complaint of Mrs. Moosman and her children, and listening to Moosman's defense, deliberated only 35 minutes before finding him not guilty of the charge.

Local Briefs

Miss Mabel Wilson, a native of Southern California has been transferred from the Gensler-Lee Jewelry store in Reno to Santa Ana, relieving Miss Charmaine D'Arcy, who will take up her duties at the Reno store.

Miss Janice Black, of the Security Title and Trust company, is recuperating at St. Joseph's hospital from a serious operation performed last Saturday afternoon, when she was taken suddenly ill and was removed to the hospital in a critical condition.

A four room house at Delhi, owned by Juan Granado was totally destroyed by fire at 8 o'clock last night.

Merle Van Landingham, 24, of Santa Ana, and Junius F. Connor, 22, of Lakeview, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Robert Stevens, below, carrier on Register city Route No. 2, has forged ahead to take second place in the big annual spring popularity contest for carrier boys. In fifth place until the last few days, the carrier has amassed a total of 106,000 votes to climb to second place and threaten first place.

OPEN CONSERVATION CORPS ENLISTMENTS

Unmarried young men between the ages of 18 and 25 years who would like to enroll in the Civilian Conservation Corps were urged to do so at once by Terrance H. Halloran, Orange county SERA director.

Under the new plan, enrollments opened yesterday at the SERA offices here at Second and Broadway, serving the county. For the first time in a year, reenlistments now are permitted. Halloran pointed out, and there is a possibility of advancement for those who have had experience and who are qualified.

The quota for Orange county in the new enlistment period is 200 as compared with the last period when the quota was but 55.

CAROLYN PHILLIPS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Carolyn E. Phillips, 45, of 305 South Van Ness street, died at a Compton sanitarium today following an extended illness. She had lived in this city for 17 years.

She was the wife of Henry C. Phillips and also leaves her mother, Mrs. Christine Johnson, of Quincy, Illinois; two sisters, Miss Ann Johnson, of Chicago, Illinois; Mrs. May Miller, of Quincy, Illinois; five brothers, William Johnson, New York; Edward Johnson, Quincy, Illinois; Herbert Johnson, Moline, Illinois; Arthur A. Johnson, of Chicago, Illinois. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell and Brown.

Funeral services will be announced later by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home.

Harry Lee's temporary possession of a vacuum cleaner, stolen from the Palace rooming house here on March 3, is costing him 120 days in the Orange county jail.

Lee was arrested by San Diego officers on a petty theft warrant sworn to by P. B. Lee, manager of the rooming house at 318 French street.

Taken before Judge J. G. Mitchell, Harry Lee admitted the theft and pleaded guilty. He said he took the vacuum cleaner to San Diego, where he became intoxicated and while in that state, someone in turn stole it from him.

Judge Mitchell thought four months in jail might convince the prisoner of the folly of his taking ways, and Lee started serving his sentence today.

CARRIER BOYS WORKING HARD FOR CASH PRIZE DEVELOPMENTS

Taking full advantage of the school spring vacation, Register carrier boys in the city and suburban divisions, have piled up thousands of votes during the past few days to upset the standings in general in the big annual spring popularity contest for carrier boys which will end on April 30, when $300 in cash will be distributed to the winners.

Full time effort and a determination to win on the part of both Santa Ana and suburban carrier boys promises to change the standings considerably before the end of the hot race, according to Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin.

One of the surprise developments was when Robert Stevens, carrier on city route No. 2, forged ahead to second place from fifth position in the city division. He now has a total of 106,000 votes.

Ben Detwiler continued to hold his lead in first place in the city division with 151,200 votes. Marvin Ashford ranks third with 104,700 votes, with Robert Enslin now in fourth place with 101,200 votes and Ralph Beckman fifth with 91,700 votes.

Cyril Baker, of Silver Acres, still is in first, place with 241,000 votes in the suburban division with Carl Davis, of Orange, jumping to second place from fifth place with 205,000 votes. R. M. Caples is in third place with 202,000 votes while Wayne Baker, of Anaheim, is in fourth place with 178,000 votes.

There are 18 cash prizes in both divisions of the contest, in which the public has shown an amazing amount of interest, according to Circulation Manager Conklin. Hundreds of subscribers are showing a marked interest in the contest. Carriers not only have a chance to get in the big prize money, but they also are paid regular cash commissions.

TOWNSEND UNIT MEMBERS HEAR FOR CASH PRIZE DEVELOPMENTS

Townsend clubs of the county held a mass meeting at the Colonial theater at Orange last night, to hear latest developments of the Townsend plan in Washington, explained by Capt. Hand of national headquarters, J. A. Green, president of club No. 1, of Orange, presided.

Capt. Hand, member of the engineers reserves of the United States, gave a comprehensive resumé of the past history of the Townsend Plan and told of recent revisions in the act. In speaking he quoted portions of
"Eating Without Work," by Stuart
Chase, bringing out that today the matter of consumption is becoming more important than work.

The money to start the initial sum needed to put the plan in operation, will come from exactly the same place all money comes from, the speaker declared, as he told of loans to the government in recent times, when such sums as eight millions of dollars was asked and six billions were offered.

A number of speakers preceded Hand, and included in these was Clarence Gorton of Anaheim, who read two letters which he asked those present to sign. The letters were to the president and congress and urged no further delay in passing on the Townsend plan.

Roy Webb of Santa Ana, spoke briefly, calling attention to talks being given over the radio by Dr.
E. E. Long of Anaheim, which he declared were not Townsend talks.
Long, he stated, claims that as he does not belong to a Townsend club, he can say anything he wants to in his talks. He said that a talk to be given at the Orange Intermediate school next Wednesday, will not necessarily be a Townsend talk.

Fred Volmer closed the meeting with a talk on Senator Neils
T. Edwards' stand in the state senate, when that body was asked to memorialize congress for the plan.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

VISITING—
You may have noticed that Washington was not one of the places visited by Mr. Hoover on his highly publicized tour. This was not an oversight. If he came here, he would not have many places to visit.

The fact is most of the Republican authorities here are irked every time they pick up a newspaper and find Mr. Hoover's name in it. They know he is not a presidential possibility and he knows it, but apparently no one else does. You can mark it down in your little notebook for the next Republican presidential nomination is Ogden Mills, the former secretary of treasury.

You may also note that, while Mr. Mills is probably the most brilliant and capable man in the Republican party, he has no more chance of getting the nomination than you have.

ONE, TWO, THREE—

The smartest Republican authority from the Midwest says President Roosevelt would carry his section today. He thinks the president has lost ground, but not enough.

Incidentally his one-two-three pick for the Republican nomination is (1) Col. Frank Knox, (2) Senator Vandenberg, (3) Governor Landon of Kansas.

Republican authorities here have been astounded at the amount of talk about Knox in the middle west. He is weak in Washington, but that may be to his credit.

MISTAKE—

The smartest Republican strategist privately concedes the coming Kansas City meeting a mistake.

It is always had strategy for an opposition party to try to draw up an affirmative list of principles. The truth is that those who will meet in Kansas City are agreed on only one thing; namely, that they are against the New Deal. If you go beyond that into a list of particulars, you will find there are as many different viewpoints among the proposed Kansas City delegates as there are delegates.

The promoters of the meeting know this now. For that reason, you need not expect much from the gathering, despite all the ballyhoo about it.

Note: The eastern wing of the party (Hiles, Rorabach, etc.) had no connection with the arrangements for the meeting, regardless of stories now going around to the contrary.

WITHDRAWAL—
Over at the United States Chamber of Commerce, it is no secret that the president, Henry I. Harriman, is leaving when his present term expires. An announcement will be made when the annual meeting is held here in May. This decision is at least partially based on an unwritten tradition of the chamber that no president shall serve more than three terms. Harriman is serving his third one-year term.

FIGHT—
Two eminent journalists are to meet this week in the office of Corrington Gill at FERA and fight out their conflicting contentions about the New Deal. The contestants are Walter Lippmann and Frank Kent. The bout probably will last one round without a decision.

Kent is arguing the whole New Deal is a bust and points to the FERA relief figures as proof. Lipp-mann says the relief figures are not a true indication and there must be other explanations of the increase in relief rolls, aside from increasing unemployment. Lippmann is right, as usual. The referee will be Gill.

DRAW—

No sensible man would care to umpire the Hopkins-Davey row. Ohio's Governor Davey is a political animal. He says that only one man has been indicted, and this indictment was based on a charge of plain grafting, not shaking down firms that sell to the relief administration, as FERA-er Hopkins charged.

On the other hand, the FERA gang here insists the grand jury received affidavits showing complicity of state officials in a shake-down racket, but the grand jury decided there was no law against this.

It seems to be a case of much excitement and little action. The best authorities believe Hopkins probably spoke out of turn, but they also have their fingers crossed about the Ohio relief administration.

The FERA crowd insists you have not heard the last of the forgotten sensation, but you probably have.

PEACE—

A confidential report drawn up by the state department recommends the following course of action to keep us out of the next war: (A) An immediate embargo on munitions, (B) Forbid American citizens to travel on any ship carrying munitions, (C) Prohibit loans and credits to belligerents, (D) Bar armed vessels from our ports, (E) Make it a crime for American citizens to enlist in belligerent armies, (F) Make it a penal offense for anyone to sympathize publicly with any belligerent.

These suggestions will be toned down plenty before the final draft is submitted to the president.

NOTES—

The pending proposal to re-name Pickwick dam in the Tennessee valley is causing considerable inner commotion. There are some who want to call it "Quinn" dam in honor of the late representative. This is opposed by Senator McKellar's friends, who wish it to be known as McKellar dam.

Sec-er Kennedy has no idea of quitting any time soon, despite stories current in Wall street. The stories started when a newsman misinterpreted something Kennedy said in an interview.

Assistant Treasury Secretary Gibbs takes notes of telephone conversations in shorthand.

If you consider the change in purchasing power, an ounce of silver now is worth about 95 cents, based on the 1926 price level.

Ex-Representative West may ultimately get Louis Howe's secretarial job. He is going half of it now.

There will be no change in the existing securities act until the SEC has a chance to ascertain whether financing may be resumed under the existing act. If it fails, a change will be recommended.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

BITE—
Informed New Yorkers understand that the Securities and Exchange commission plans to get tough with corporations which remain stubborn about revealing official salaries for publication. Delisting is a severe punishment—and might hurt stockholders more than offending officials—but it's likely to be invoked in a couple of cases to prove that the commission means business. Joe Kennedy can't afford to ease up on this issue. Unless he enforces full publicity for all registered companies he will find himself in boiling water. Those which have told all will insist heatedly that no exceptions be allowed. The razzing which officers of Bethlehem Steel and Niagara Hudson took at their annual stockholders' meetings for paying themselves too much money is typical of what can be expected hereafter. It's true that the protesting share owners will in most cases be small minorities and heretofore impotent to enforce action on their objections. But insiders agree that the moral pressure is bound to lead to many drastic executive pay cuts.

The happy days when stockholders were a docile lot have gone forever. Their new found aggressiveness traces directly to the moral support they now get from their government.

WAGES—
The announcement that Bill Green now has authority to call a strike in 174 motor plants sounds important—but don't take it too seriously. If he orders a walkout he will have to take responsibility for its outcome. And Green isn't sitting so firmly on his throne that he can afford rash experiments. New York rates talk of an auto walkout in sympathy with the impending Akron rubber strike, as one of those psychological plays of which the Federation of Labor is so fond. It implies a solidarity that doesn't exist. Labor will have its hands much too full trying to make the tire barons see the light to indulge in unprofitable sideshows. Concentration of activity will be the keynote in fact if not in word. Meanwhile the public campaign to lower wages is making quiet but steady progress. The National Industrial Conference Board chipped in last week with statistics to show that labor costs have risen since 1923 out of all proportion to corporate income and volume of production. The figures stress the point that total payrolls registered a striking advance in February of this year as compared to manufacturing output, gross income and the number of people employed. The presentation isn't what you could call dramatic—but it all helps.

HOOKS—

Richard Whitney has done his best to heal the breach in Stock Exchange ranks by publicly announcing his support for his designated successor—Charles R. Gay. But sub-surface settlement is still remarkably bitter. The faction which supported Whitney is convinced it was the victim of a fast one put over by the big wire houses. A few die-hards are still trying to drum up an independent ticket—although their chances of getting anywhere are slim.

But Mr. Gay will find his new post no bed of roses. Plenty of able men are ready and eager to throw the hooks into him at the slightest sign of a slip.

SERVICE—

Two important changes in Stock Exchange setup are certain as Gay takes over. One is internal. The exchange will establish its own legal department instead of depending on outside firms for legal advice. There's a lot of feeling about high-priced counsel "whose chief functions seem to be to get us in as wrong as possible with Congress."

The other involves sweeping shifts in the personnel of the law and public relations committees which really run the exchange. This implies a new policy toward the outside world with protection of investors and frank discussion of how the wheels go 'round heavily featured.

That portion of the public which is interested in the stock market is bound to notice a significant change. Mr. Gay means it when he says: "The exchange must be alive to the necessity for proving that it provides a valid public service."

WAR—

New York authorities predict that France and Italy will argue themselves blue in the face at Stresa and Geneva without inducing Britain to tie up in any mutual defense pact. Public opinion in England is violently against entanglements. The informed contend that no government official who agreed to commitments on the continent could hold his job for a week after his countrymen knew what he had done.

Germany will undoubtedly be encouraged by the failure of the other powers to reach an agreement—but informed sources are skeptical of the theory that this will hasten hostilities. Comment runs that every government in Europe—except Russia and possibly Italy—is aware that it faces the danger of internal revolt if it plunges into war. This is a factor for peace that weighs far more heavily than the world knows.

COMPETITION—

The new trade treaty with Belgium is subject to review after it has been in operation six months. Steel interests are already working up a strong case for abrogation when that period is over.

They will stress the argument that the Belgian steel worker gets an average of 17 cents an hour against 65 cents for the American worker and that such competition will be ruinous without tariff protection. The industry claims that every ton of imported steel takes $25 out of an American pay envelope.

PLIGHT—
Wall Street was amused by Eugene Grace's plight when Bethlehem Steel stockholders objected to his high salary. It's remarked that Grace has always made a point of shedding sweetness and light at stockholders' meetings—and this time it must have been quite a strain to hold the pose.

SPECIAL SERVICES
HELD BY BAPTISTS

FULLERTON, April 16.—The Pre-Easter meetings at the Fullerton Baptist church are proceeding under the guidance of the Rev. H. F. Sheerer of the Orange Baptist church, and the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor, with the Rev. M. Sheerer preaching Monday night on "The Name that is Above Every Name," from Acts 4:12.

Services opened Sunday night when the pastor accepted 17 members, 10 of whom were baptized.

Mrs. Lilah Ford and Mrs. Lois Manuel sang a duet at the meeting last night. Bill Gibbs, of Santa Ana, led the singing.

The Rev. Roland Pickhardt will bring a special musical offering tonight. The services will start with an organ prelude at 7:15 o'clock.

MOOSE LODGE TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE
ANAHEIM, April 16.—Members of the Loyal Order of Moose are holding open house tonight at a pot luck dinner and dance. The affair is to be held in K. P. hall. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and will be followed by dancing, according to the announcement. The public is invited to attend.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Phones
FULLERTON, April 16.—"Seagone Telephone" were discussed Monday when Dean Smith of the publicity department of the Southern California Telephone company, talked at the Fullerton Kiwanis club meeting at El Patio cafe.

The speaker, introduced by R. W. Downing, in charge of the Fullerton telephone office, showed moving pictures on the subject. He suggested that television as yet is impractical because it is too expensive for the public at large.

BREA PASTOR
SAYS SCIENCE
NEEDS JESUS

FULLERTON, April 16.—"If the teachings of Jesus and His spirit are not brought into world affairs, and applied to science soon enough, men's science may destroy this world," the Rev. Donald Gaylord, pastor of Brea Congregational church, said last night. He brought the first of a series of sermons at the pre-Easter meetings held at the Methodist church under auspices of the Fullerton Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian churches, under sponsorship of the young people of the churches.

His topic was "Jesus and Our Modern Knowledge." After outlining the advances and changes that have taken place in the fields of science, in astronomy, in philosophy and psychology, and how those changes have tended to undermine Jesus and the fundamentals of His teachings of love, the speaker declared that "Religion needs science and science needs religion; there is no battle between true science and true religion, and the world is just beginning to wake up to the fact that science needs Jesus."

"If science is not brought under the influence of Jesus it can damn the world," he warned.

For instance, he brought to the attention of his audience that psychology, as a science applied to alcohol advertising, is destructive. That the development of the machine, uncontrolled, is the cause of the technological unemployment, that the scientific investigation and subsequent control of diseases by science is offset by the scientific development of implements for killing; that the airplane, scientifically one of the greatest of developments, used in war is a destructive force.

"In all of these things, we must apply the teachings of Jesus," he said. "His doctrine of love is as unprovable as the great laws of science, and yet we must believe that love only will conquer every evil and His love and spirit only brought into this field of modern knowledge can solve the problem placed before us by modern knowledge."

DISCUSS SUMMER
PLAY ACTIVITIES

FULLERTON, April 16.—The Fullerton committee on summer playground will open the supervisory play periods immediately if facilities can be had for such a program, utilizing SERRA supervision and trained playground directors for the work.

Representatives of civic organizations assembled Monday night. A committee was appointed to confer with both the high school and elementary school boards to discuss use of the facilities at the schools after and before school hours, and on Saturdays and Sundays, and to confer with the park superintendents.

R. R. Russick, supervisor in charge of SERRA supervised playground arrangements, and E. L. Gerrard met with the committee. They also discussed the possibility of supervised work in music and drama, which the committee is planning to consider.

Shell Building
House Information
Bureau At Fair

A great golden shell, nearly 60 feet high, one of the most unique buildings ever designed, is being erected on the grounds of the California Pacific International Exposition in San Diego, latest addition to the many special structures which will house the exhibit of the world's leading industrial firms at the big show this summer.

Details of this unusual building were received here today by J. H. Kellerman, local manager for Shell Oil company, who said that the Shell building is an exact copy in giant proportions of the trademark seen at service stations and garages on the highways of the nation.

The interesting shell will have spacious offices inside for use as a travel and information bureau, according to Kellerman. Trained travel directors will be in charge to answer questions about scenic highways, national parks and other places to see throughout the West. Road maps, street maps, hotel and camp information, and travel aids will be supplied free to all who need them. The big Shell also will be headquarters for information about the Exposition grounds and attractions.

The Shell building is just one of many ways in which the Shell

Garden Sections Hold Meeting In L. A. On April 23

ORANGE, April 16.—The two garden sections of the Orange Woman's club, will hold a joint meeting at the Lincoln Park conservatory in Los Angeles, April 23, when new officers for the combined sections will be announced. The groups are making plans to entertain the county garden clubs on April 29 at the clubhouse. Mrs. H. O. Russell and Mrs. L. W. Thompson are the present leaders. By recent action, the two groups decided to combine and to hold meetings at the clubhouse instead of in the homes of members.

ENJOY MORE SUNNY DAYS

Your moods, your actions, your very personality—all are influenced by the state of your health. Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It takes the color out of living.

Kellogg's All-Bran, a natural laxative food, furnishes you with this needed "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

The "bulk" in All-Bran remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Isn't this cereal food better than patent medicines?

All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron. Serve it as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It's much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

For further proof address the author, enclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

An underground factory, a mile back from the entrance, was established deep in Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, during the War of 1812, to produce nitrates for the U. S. Government's gunpowder.

Negroes who served as laborers in the underground plant remained inside the cave a year without coming out. Vats and other equipment used in the preparation of the nitrates may still be seen in the cave.

Strange as it seems, the waterflea (Daphnia), a crustacean, lays eggs that will still hatch 10 years after they are laid. This unusual power protects the species from extinction during cold or drought, and the eggs simply lie dormant instead of hatching out under unfavorable conditions. When favorable conditions again exist the eggs hatch out, and thus the waterflea's young escape winter and drought.

The crustacean lays two kinds of eggs, one called the winter egg and the other the summer egg. The winter eggs are those that have the power of living over long periods. They are laid generally in the fall, although they may be laid at other times of the year, and are fertilized. They are darker, larger, and better protected than the so-called summer eggs which are unfertilized and which are laid the year around.

Pere David's deer are extinct in wild life, and have been for centuries. The only ones known were those kept in captivity in the Orient until some were brought to England a few years ago.

OFFICIAL VOTE TALLY MADE BY CITY COUNCIL

Only minor changes were made in the vote totals from the recent municipal election in the official figures, announced following canvass of the vote last night by the Santa Ana city council.

Included in the official figures are 61 absentee voters' ballots which were opened and counted last night. City Clerk Vegely announced that 70 absentee ballots had been sent out, but only 64 had been returned and of this number, three had not been notarized and therefore could not be counted.

In the absentee totals, Vegely and J. G. Mitchell, police judge, each scored 48, with William Penn and Fred Rowland each receiving 40, and E. H. Layton and Plummer Bruns each received 34. Incumbents in each case received the highest number of absent voters' ballots with the exception of city marshal, in which race Floyd Howard and Earl Lentz were tied with 13 votes each.

The complete official election totals, including the absentee ballots, are as follows:

Council, Ward 1: S. L. Aubin, 500; A. F. LeGaye, 405; Jos. P. Smith, 479.

FIGURES GIVEN ON GAS COMPANY TAXES

A total of $880,717 was paid in taxes during 1934 by Southern Counties Gas company, according to the annual report to stockholders just issued by President F. S. Wade and the company's board of directors, and released here by Fred Merker, local manager. This item is the total of all taxes to federal, state, county and municipal government.

"The tax levy amounts to an average of $6.01 for each gas meter on the company's lines," the statement read. "The figures total an average payment in taxes amounting to $2,413 per day for every day in the year including Sunday. Based on the average annual revenue per customer, the total is in excess of 16 percent of the total income."

"With a tax bill of $880,717 and a net income of $729,071, it is seen that the taxes exceed the company's net income by more than $151,000, the management points out."

"The net income for the year shows a decline of $252,000 as compared with 1933, the report sets forth, although company officials are somewhat encouraged by an increase of about three per cent in the number of active meters as compared with the previous year. This indicates, according to company officials, a gradual return to individual homes on the part of many families who "doubled up" with relatives at the peak of the depression."

"Company sales of modern gas appliances including ranges, refrigerators, water heaters and house heating equipment showed a substantial gain during the year and in addition, salesmen employed by the company sold a total of more than $250,000 worth of gas appliances for local dealers in territory served by the company. The company operates in 98 cities, towns and rural communities in five Southern California counties."

CITY COUNCIL COMMENDS WARNER AND DOWNING FOR ABLE SERVICE TO CITY

As the business of the retiring city council drew to a close last night, Councilman Fred C. Rowland arose and presented two resolutions which were unanimously adopted, commending E. G. Warner, retiring mayor, and Clyde C. Downing, retiring city attorney, for their ability and service to the city.

The resolution regarding Mayor Warner called attention to the justice, fairness, and impartiality with which he has presided over the council, and expressed gratitude for his executive ability and civic enterprise, and continued:

"Be it recorded in the official records of this city that this council does hereby tender and express to the Honorable E. G. Warner, mayor of Santa Ana, its felicitations and best wishes in all his future enterprises, and does express to him its appreciation for his many virtues which have led him through the trials and controversies with which he was confronted while acting as mayor of the city of Santa Ana."

The council then presented to Warner the actual gavel with which he had presided over their meetings, the gavel being embellished with a suitable plaque commemorating the event.

Accepting the tribute in deep emotion, Warner expressed appreciation for many courtesies received during his term of office and gratitude for the kindnesses shown him by city employees. "This city has shown wisdom in its choice and the people's confidence in your integrity and ability has been well placed," he said. "You will carry on to the best of your ability."

Downing Commended

Calling attention to the fact that the council has been counseled and advised by the city attorney of Santa Ana, "who has given freely of his time and effort to assist this board in carrying out the best interests of the city," and that "each member of the board has the kindest personal feeling and regard for his legal advisor," the resolution regarding Downing continued:

"Now therefore, this board hereby expresses to Clyde C. Downing, city attorney of the city of Santa Ana, its deepest gratitude and appreciation for the impartial service rendered to each member of this board, and to the people of the city of Santa Ana, by him while acting as such city attorney, and at the same time desires to express the wish that Clyde C. Downing will have happiness, success, and prosperity in his future undertakings."

Following adoption of these resolutions, the council adjourned the sine die, marking the close of the 1934-35 session. The councilmen took their seats, and the new administration was begun.

After a brief recess, the newly elected officers were administered their oath of office, the new councilmen took their seats, and the new administration was begun.

Mrs. La Monte Is Birthday Honoree

LA HABRA, April 16.—Mrs. Nellie La Monte was the honoree Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna C. Launer when she entertained the members of the Senior Ladies' club. Mrs. La Monte was celebrating her 80th birthday anniversary, receiving many lovely greeting cards, bouquets of flowers from her friends and was presented with a decorated birthday cake.

The refreshment theme carried out the lavender and pink motif and featured the Easter decorations. Quilt blocks were placed during the afternoon and games were enjoyed.

Those attending were Mrs. Anna Leutwiler, Mrs. Frank McFadden, Mrs. Milton J. Keeler, Mrs. Sheridan Phillips, Mrs. Harriet Van Meter, Mrs. Minnie Williams, Mrs. Maude Adcock, Mrs. Nancy Bellomy, Mrs. Florence Hart, Mrs. John Leuehn, Mrs. Jennie Cramer, Mrs. Myra C. TUSTIN, April 16.—The children of the eight grade of Tustin grammar school were hosts to the members of the eight two grade of the school recently at a merry party at the home of Miss Betty Jane Timmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons, Red Hill avenue.

Refreshments of sandwiches and ice cream were served by Mrs. Timmons, assisted by Mrs. Joe Irvine, teacher of the eight two grade. C. C. Hall, teacher of the eight one students, and Mrs. Hall, were special guests.

Children who are members of Mrs. Irvine's class are Arthur Witten, Rebecca Archer, Dorothy Allen, Edna Frances Johnson, Elizabeth Campbell, Margaret Coleman, Virginia Pafford, Beth Kellams, Anna Marie Grotz, Arthur Gorton, Johnnie Osterman, Ina Chaddick, Getty Brooks, Conrad Wangler, Vivian Griset, Louise Riehl Jr., Jack Griset, B. J. McReynolds, Jack Becker, Emily Bouchard, Rene Lagier, Beulah Osborn, Tomoko Kitasaki, Paul Kimball, Jimmie Fultz, Lenora Marchant, Cecil Maxson, Betty Timmons and Charles Christian.

Plans Completed For Laguna Beach Affair April 17

LAGUNA BEACH, April 16.—Several committees of young women of the colony's social set under direction of Mrs. Lloyd Solset have completed arrangements for the garden party and fashion show to be held here Wednesday afternoon in the patio of Hotel Laguna, it was learned today from Mrs. Carla Hatheway, chairman of the publicity committee. The entertainment is given for the sole purpose of creating a revolving scholarship fund to benefit deserving students of the high school.

In addition to bridge and a selected musical program, there will be a fashion show in charge of Mrs. Glad Forster, formerly connected with leading establishments in New York and Chicago, and now a resident of Laguna. She will be assisted by Mary Rohn and Stuart Avis in the display of sports and beach wear as well as the last word in bathing suits and aquatic attire.

Mrs. C. E. Brewster Named President Of La Habra Club

LA HABRA, April 16.—An Easter luncheon opened the recent meeting of the La Habra Women's club, followed by the annual election of officers.

The entertainment feature of the afternoon included selections by the Fullerton Union High school a capella choir, under the direction of Miss Ruth Tilton, and a skit, entitled, "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. C. E. Brewster was elected president of the club for the coming year, and other officers chosen at this time were Mrs. J. V. Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Edna Wolfe, second vice president; Mrs. N. M. Launer, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Marsh, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. F. Espolett, historian; Mrs. Henri Clayton, curator; Mrs. J. L. Williams, parliamentarian; Mrs. H. G. Blohm and Mrs. R. W. Willing, members of the board of directors.

Club Names Date For Garden Party

BUENA PARK, April 16.—April 25 is the date selected by the May-June ways and means committee of the Woman's club for a garden party to be held at the home of the club president, Mrs. R. D. Temple.

The program for the affair will comprise an afternoon tea and a visit to the Temple green houses from 2 until 5 o'clock. A silver offering will be taken. Invitations to the affair will be sent to the various garden sections of clubs throughout the county. The quilt made by the March-April finance committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Katherine Berkey will be sold at that time.

LOST FAT Fooled Gossipers

Mrs. J. R. McCausland of Pittsburg writes: "I took off 8 lbs. in two weeks with Kruschen. I ate as usual and feel fine." You, too, can safely reduce as Mrs. McCausland did if you'll only have a mind of your own. Pay no attention to gossipers who wouldn't want to see you the slender woman you can be if you'll only take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen. Save in a cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added). Kruschen is SAFE—it's a health treatment and when your body abounds with Kruschen fitness—excess fat leaves. Jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle—any drug-store. Adv.

Great Scenic Center Development is Next Step Planned

With Boulder Dam near completion, the mammoth task facing builders in dismantling the vast amount of equipment at the site is told in this story, last of the series of six on this engineering marvel.

BY OREN ARNOLD
Special Correspondent

BOULDER CITY, Nev., April 16.—One of the thrills of a circus is to stand around after the performance and watch "em dismantle" the structures and tents. It's going to be highly interesting to watch them "dismantle" things at Boulder Dam.

The finale of removing scaffolding, steel foundries, concrete plants, railroads, cables, bridges, supports, dormitories, mess halls, and the thousand and one other temporary items, is going to be a Grade A engineering job itself.

Man-hours, and salvaging, are bound to run into millions of dollars, although "million dollars" is not an impressive figure at Boulder Dam.

Much of this work will be done by summer. In fact, it has already begun. All the old planks and forms can be knocked off the dam proper, off the huge intake towers and powerhouses, to make them "clean" for tourists to see.

In this deep canyon, many miles from a lumber tree, you can soon get enough used lumber to build a whole town of homes with an auditorium thrown in.

And there is, for instance, one gate made of 3,000,000 pounds of steel, which you can have free if you will cart it off!

Best Houses to Stand

On top of the canyon and over eight miles, workmen also will soon begin dismantling a part of Boulder City. But only that part built by the dam construction company will be removed. They are temporary frame houses, mostly, where the workmen live.

The lovely brick and plaster residences built by Uncle Sam, some of which are palatial, will remain here, to be homes of the permanent force which will maintain and operate Boulder Dam and its power plant.

Of the 5000 people now in Boulder City, perhaps 3500 will remain. Some of the discharged workmen will be absorbed in building the great aqueduct, the Colorado river to Los Angeles, on the new canal projects in Imperial valley, and subsequent jobs incident to the reclamation project there.

They will not, if at all avoidable be turned back into the ranks of unemployed.

Scenic Center Planned

One new project to be launched soon is that of making Boulder Lake a great recreation center. In perhaps the most scenic spot in America, it will be developed as a fishing, boating, bathing and hunting region, a paradise for the outdoor vacationist, all supervised by Uncle Sam.

The world's biggest man-made lake should be full in four or five years. (Its water would then cover all New York state to a depth of one foot.)

It will be 1200 feet above the sea level, with mountains around it, and have 550 miles of shore line.

Below the reservoir are about 2,000,000 acres of irrigable land, of which 660,000 already are irrigated, mostly in California.

DISMANTLING WORK AT DAM EXPENSIVE

The greatest man-made lake in the world stretches back from Boulder Dam, as the Colorado river, extending out over the lowlands for 25 miles upstream, fills the huge reservoir, shown in this air view from a Richfield Oil Company plane. The lake level now is far above the old river channel. In the center foreground the dam loses its look of immensity as viewed from a mile and a half height.

Now irrigation, however, is not the main consideration in building Boulder Dam. Flood control, silt control, domestic water supply for Pacific coast cities, and electric power are the four big reasons.

Power Sale to Pay Cost

The power sale will pay for the dam, under contracts for it already signed. The Boulder power plants have a capacity of 1,335,000 horsepower. (Niagara has only 432,500; Muscle Shoals 250,000, with a potential of 600,000 only; Dnieprostroy in Russia, 750,000.)

The city of Los Angeles and the California Edison Company will operate and maintain the power plant. The greatest power lines ever conceived already are strung across the state to Los Angeles, nearly 300 miles away.

Beginning in September, Boulder Dam ultimately will create three times the electricity any project ever offered, and there are a dozen or more other good dam sites on the Colorado, if need arises. Electricity may help wipe out human drudgery, with a good start toward it right here.

Thousands Visit Dam

More than 1000 tourists a day are seeing Boulder Dam now, and the number is increasing. Tremendous in every sense, it is hard to grasp, but soon the nation will be familiar with its physical aspects, at least.

Ultimately all nations will realize that here is the greatest single man-made wonder in all the world, because it is not just a monument or a statue or a private money-making scheme.

It is a gigantic adventure in human progress and emancipation. The End butcher's inner spirit: Smooth and snowy sheets glimpse the housewife's inner glow: Steady hammer strokes mark the craftsman, just to hear it. Smooths the ragged nerves, as the heat falls, measured, slow. He who mows a lawn like a velvet stretch of jade green velvet; He who paints a house with a lingering loving care; He who spades the earth with a straight and chastened furrow; She who cleans a room, making fragrant, ordered, fair; He who keeps the steam in a locomotive steady; Keeps the fire clinkerless and even as the floor; He who stops the train without noise or jar... just ready For the laden trucks at the open baggage door.

He who checks cows cornfields so they pattern, every viewpoint; He who lays his shingles plumb and even, edge to edge; He who plants his orchard straight, rejoicing in uprightness; He who stretches fences taut and grows a patterned hedge; Each one in his image, straight and clean and fine and fragrant, Orderly and upright or methodical and true; Inhibiting, restraining all the slovenly and vagrant; Builds in his own image... and creates himself anew.

"HOME-COMING NIGHT" TO BE HELD BY D. A. V.

A large attendance is expected at the bi-monthly meeting of the Jack Fisher Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, tomorrow evening at the K. of C. Hall. This meeting has been designated as "Homecoming Night" and a hearty welcome will be accorded all members as well as service-connected disabled veterans who are not in good standing at the present time.

A varied vaudeville program has been arranged in addition to orchestra numbers, to be followed by a social hour at which the Jack Fisher Auxiliary members will join the chapter. Refreshments will be served during this hour, affording all an opportunity of getting acquainted.

Preceding the program, a short business session will be conducted at which time delegates to the state convention next month will be elected and nominations of officers for the ensuing year will be opened. "Every member of the chapter, in addition to all eligible disabled veterans will be accorded a warm welcome at this reunion meeting and the officers have planned to care for a large crowd," Jules W. Markel, chapter commander stated today.

Because she likes to get right down to earth when she isn't acting, Ann Southern started a tiny flower garden in her back yard—which she tends herself, attired in a very cute overall outfit. Then Paul Kelly's dog became obsessed with the idea that he didn't want to have any garden next door to him. After the fourth time he came out and dug a hole in Ann's garden. Ann went down to a pet shop and bought the biggest cat she could find. Now the flowers are growing undisturbed.

Cypress Club To Hold Card Party

CYPRESS, April 16.—Sponsored by the community club, a benefit card party is to be held the afternoon of April 26 at the clubhouse. Both bridge and "500" will be played and refreshments served. A small admission charge will be made. Community club women have decided to rent the La Rue building as a club home until the group is able to build a clubhouse. A housewarming is planned for May 14. A covered dish luncheon, with Mrs. C. Lambin and Mrs. R. M. Puquay as hostesses, will precede the meeting.

NAMED SALES HEAD FOR STUDEBAKER

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 16.—Announcement of the appointment of Louis K. Manley as general sales manager of the new Studebaker Corporation was made here today by Paul G. Hoffman, president.

Mr. Manley has been manager of branches for Studebaker for the past four years. Prior to that he was dean of the School of Business Administration of the University of Pittsburgh. At Pittsburgh he also directed the Bureau of Business Research. In the latter capacity, Mr. Manley had been a Studebaker consultant many times. He had also represented Studebaker in Europe. "During my four years in South Bend I have seen Studebaker make real business history," said Mr. Manley today. "I believe the corporation is now standing upon the threshold of its greatest era. We're stripped for action. We're building quality automobiles at a minimum of expense. And we've got a loyal, hard-hitting dealer organization that is prepared to sell these automobiles in greater numbers than Studebaker have ever been sold before."

TEMPLE GROUP AT MESA WEDNESDAY

COSTA MESA, April 16.—Talent from the choir of Angelus temple under the direction of Mrs. Emily Bradbury, choir director, will present a program of select sacred numbers in the local Foursquare church Wednesday evening, according to an announcement by Miss Thelma Bradbury, pastor of the local organization. Some of the visiting artists will be soloists, Helen Stanhope, Mrs. Anderson and Frances Larson and reader, Virginia Smith.

Meetings will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings, she stated. Miss Gladys Pinnell, missionary from Africa, will show stereoscopic views of scenes there and supplement them with a talk. Holy communion services will be held following the missionary program. A pageant by the young people's society of the church will be given Friday evening. The play will depict the scene of the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ. An Easter pageant and special song service by the church choir will be given next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

JULIA MIDDLETON, EL MONTE MAN WED

LA HABRA, April 16.—Miss Julia Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Middleton, of East Florence avenue, was quietly married to Ned L. Algeo, of El Monte, April 13. The wedding took place at the parsonage of the Rev. W. O. Trueblood, pastor of the Whittier Friends church. The bride wore a turquoise blue crepe dress with white accessories and carried a bouquet of Cecil Bruner rosebuds and blue forget-me-nots. The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a week's honeymoon in Northern California. Upon their return they will make their home at 204 East Clemmison street, El Monte.

STUDEBAKER SHARES VICTORY by sharply reducing delivered prices

ONLY the new and greater Studebaker Corporation, now brilliantly victorious and enviably strong financially, can offer you such a money-saving deal. Studebaker now has no bank loans, no burdensome overhead, no excessive plant valuation. And all these economies are being promptly shared with the public.

This big, roomy sedan is built as only Studebaker builds automobiles—with steel-reinforced-by-steel body and roof panels, compound hydraulic brakes, automatic ride control and a brilliantly flexible, amazingly economical Studebaker engine.

The low delivered price at right includes all necessary equipment and Federal excise tax. Come in and see for yourself.

Chamber Of Commerce Welcomes New City Officials

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR CITY SEEN BY OFFICIALS

BY KENNETH ADAMS

Determined to face the future with a program of harmony, progress and cooperation and to let the past be forgotten, directors and members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce welcomed new officials of the city of Santa Ana at a special luncheon meeting yesterday afternoon in the Green Cat cafe.

Throughout the meeting an exemplary spirit of willingness to forget any past differences between political factions was evident, as members of the chamber of commerce and city officials pledged themselves to join forces for the mutual advantage of every citizen in the city.

Terry E. Stephenson, speaking for the chamber of commerce, sounded the keynote of the meeting when he greeted the new civic officials, Santa Ana, he said, is not a city which will go backwards, and as much as a community must either go backwards or progress, this city looks to the future to bring great things.

Councilman Joe Smith, speaking for the city council, promised an administration "of sanity in taxation and spending." He said the council needs and will appreciate the advice and cooperation of the business element of the city and urged everyone to forget the "past political bickerings."

The same spirit of cooperation and harmony was expressed in brief talks made by Herbert Miller, chairman of the chamber committee in charge of relations with the city council, who presided at the meeting, and by other speakers, including W. H. Spurgeon, president of the chamber.

City officials who were honored at the meeting included Councilmen Joe Smith, Fred Rowland, William Penn, Plummer Bruns and Ernest Layton; Judge J. G. Mitchell, Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard, City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, City Clerk Ed Vegely and City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

J. P. Baumgartner, past president of the chamber, spoke briefly at the meeting, praising the plans of the chamber of commerce in having a group which can meet with the city council to help work out problems which affect business.

Members of the chamber voted to wire Gov. Frank Merriam yesterday afternoon expressing opposition to the legislative bill which would limit freight trains to 70 cars. E. B. Sharpley asked the chamber to adopt the resolution, declaring that the limitation would be harmful not only to railroads, but to all shippers of fresh fruits.

Two Sisters Apart Fifty Years Meet

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

There are golden anniversaries of weddings and of birthdays, but none could be more productive of more pleasure than a special golden anniversary now being celebrated in the home of Mrs. Margaret Kelly, 335 West Sixth street, Tustin. For Mrs. Kelly and her only living sister, Mrs. Levenia Edmonds of Dunedin, New Zealand, have been re-united after a separation of 50 years.

Ever since February Mrs. Kelly has had the joy of anticipating a visit from her sister, who wrote that she was sailing from her distant island home on March 19. The voyage was made on the S. S. Maunganui, which Mrs. Edmonds came here from Dunedin, New Zealand, where she was met by a niece and nephew whom she had never seen. Mrs. Margaret Ahren and D. N. Kelly, accompanied by Mrs. D. N. Kelly.

The voyage, which was Mrs. Edmonds' first from New Zealand, was a most enjoyable one to her, for with a keen and alert mind, she is always receptive to new impressions. On her bus trip southward from San Francisco, she had many amusing experiences, but the one that gave her the most entertainment was being questioned by one of her fellow passengers as to her native land of New Zealand, whose whereabouts on the globe was completely unknown to the questioner.

Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Edmonds have a world of happy memories to recall of girlhood days in Dunedin, where the family home was established when Mrs. Kelly was a little girl, who had accompanied her parents from Edinburgh, her native city. Mrs. Edmonds was born in the New Zealand city, and has lived for 70 years on the same street where she was born. It was in Dunedin that Commander Richard Byrd was met by Mrs. Byrd upon his return from "Little America."

Although Mrs. Edmonds had no children of her own, she and her late husband reared several nephews in their home. Here in the United States she has the pleasure of meeting other nieces and nephews whom she had never seen, children of Mrs. Kelly. They include Mrs. Margaret Ahren, Mrs. E. S. Young, Mrs. Clyde Files, Mrs. May Barker, W. J. Kelly, D. N. Kelly and Mrs. J. J. O'Connor of Spokane, Wash., who is coming south for a visit during her aunt's eight months' stay.

Mrs. Kelly left New Zealand in 1884, and after a short time spent in British Columbia, she and Mr. Kelly came to California. Mr. Kelly was for many years, pilot on the bay at Newport. His technical advice as a pilot and a civil engineer, regarding the development of the bay as a shipping port, was proven to be true when it was found impossible to accomplish. His death in this community occurred some four years ago.

In coming to this country, Mrs. Edmonds brought with her and her already has promised to appear before Tustin schools and talk on her native country and display the Maori handicraft and other curios she brought.

Teacher In Old School Still Here

BY MARAH ADAMS

If public schools week had been observed in the early 70's in Santa Ana, as it was during the past week, it would have found two schools in session, one in a building, the first school of the city, where the Spurgeon Memorial church stands on North Broadway, and the other over a blacksmith shop at the corner of Fifth and Main streets.

In the latter school, in the primary department, was a young teacher, Miss Isabel Squires, who still lives in this city and whose home is at 707 Bush street.

Miss Squires, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Squires sr., early settlers of the county, lived with her family near Olive, the family later moving to the Villa Park district, where a son, E. W. Squires Jr., now resides. Miss Squires taught both in Orange, when that city was called Richland, and Santa Ana, where she has a lively remembrance of early school days in both cities.

The hall over the blacksmith shop, used as a primary department when the one school room became overcrowded, was called a "hall" as a matter of courtesy, Miss Squires says, as it was more like a garret. The room was used for services for the Christian church and the school on North Broadway by the Methodists on Sundays. A stairway at the side of the blacksmith shop provided a means of entrance to the hall.

A social life in those early days centered in the schoolhouses, says Miss Squires. Teaching in both communities, Miss Squires had an opportunity to compare the social life of the two settlements. Santa Ana, she says, while a religious community, had a gay social life, with parties, picnics, and amusements, while in Orange, entertainment included more tableaux, plays and similar affairs. Tustin, Santa Ana and Orange had about the same population, Miss Squires recalls.

Miss Squires completed her own school work in Orange under the tutelage of the late Stephen McPherson, going to Los Angeles, the county seat, to take an examination every three months. Examination every three months, she says, had different teachers, she says, had difficulty in passing the California examinations.

There were no high schools, Miss Squires says when she began teaching but children finishing the work in the Santa Ana and Orange schools, had some high school work, studying in their last year, such subjects as algebra and philosophy. When Miss Squires taught here in 1874, she says, Charles Brown was the teacher of the older pupils.

Miss Squires remembers the building of the school building at Sycamore and Church streets, in 1878, which now stands back of the Y. M. C. A. tennis courts. It had two stories and four rooms. The first school she says was cut in two, one half belonging to Delhi for a school and the other half to the Diamond district. The old pepper tree which still stands at this corner, and Miss Squires declares, seemed as large in those days as it does at the present time.

E. P. Stafford, one of the pupils of the early schools who lives at 118 Edgewood road, is compiling a history of the early schools of the city and has visited Miss Squires to obtain the information which she has regarding them. In interesting data he has obtained, it is revealed that the first high school class to graduate here did so in 1891, exercises being held in the Spurgeon hall located where the present Spurgeon building now stands at the corner of Sycamore and Fourth streets. The class consisted of three boys, Harry Hunt, Lee McMill and Walter Stafford. All were admitted to Leland Stanford university which opened that year. Stafford was not admitted, but was later admitted by the state university until two years later, according to

4-H CLUBS TO STAGE EASTER VACATION TOUR

Tomorrow the 4-H clubs of Orange county will participate in an Easter vacation tour to industrial establishments of general interest, according to an announcement today by Eric E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor.

The 4-H club members, together with their leaders and parents, will assemble at the Ford plant near Long Beach at 9:45 o'clock in the morning, and be divided into groups of 20, each of which will be under the tutelage of a guide supplied by the Ford company. Lunch will be eaten at a convenient park after inspecting the Ford factory.

At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the 4-H group will have the privilege of visiting the Firestone tire factory in Los Angeles and of observing all the steps involved in the manufacture of automotive tires.

The group will then return to Orange county and visit the Weber Bread bakery at Santa Ana, where the commercial manufacture of "the staff of life" will be observed.

Each club is arranging for its own transportation and members are requested to wear their regular 4-H caps and to bring their own lunches. Farm Bureau members and others who desire to attend this tour are requested to communicate with the nearest local leader, or the farm advisor's office, Eastman stated.

Stafford's memoirs, J. N. Keran was the principal of the school in 1891.

Jaysee Will Give Opera "New Moon"

Presenting a musical show never played by amateurs in Southern California, the Santa Ana Junior college opera, "New Moon," will be given by 75 members of the music department on April 26 and 27 in the Orange High school auditorium.

Lawrence Tibbets starred in "New Moon" for his first talking picture, when Perry Ascom sang the part of "Robert," the male lead of the opera. This Sigmund Romberg production played first in New York, and has also been staged in London.

"We feel," stated Miss Myrtle Martin, Jaysee music head, "that this is one of the most difficult operas that an amateur group has attempted to produce. It is of interest to the general public because of the familiar songs contained in the show."

"Wanting You" and "Strong-Hearted Men" are among the numbers that will be sung. The Santa Ana Junior college orchestra, under the direction of Leland Auer, will accompany the cast.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR TEST CASES

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(UP)—The supreme court today announced it will hear argument May 2 in test cases involving constitutionality of the National Industrial Recovery act.

Acting on a plea of the justice department made by Solicitor General Stanley Reed, the court thus gave assurance that it will rule on the NIRA by early June. The act expires June 16.

The court acted on two appeals. One was brought by the A. L. Schecter Poultry corporation of Brooklyn, N. Y., and others who were convicted of charges of violating provisions of the code of fair competition for the live poultry industry which prohibit the sale of tainted and uninspected fowl.

Ana Junior college orchestra, under the direction of Leland Auer, will accompany the cast.

P.-T. A. WILL HOLD DISTRICT MEET APRIL 18

A meeting of the Fourth District Parent-Teacher association will be held in the La Habra grammar school Thursday, April 18, it was announced today.

Sessions will start at 9:30 a. m. with an interesting program planned for the all-day event, it was announced.

In the morning the presentation of life memberships in the association will take place, followed by a short address by the president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. C. H. Turner.

At 1 p. m. a report on the County and What Is Being Done to Alleviate Same" will be given by Mrs. Roy Horton, chairman of the committee in charge of this activity. Dr. J. L. Russell, R. R. Russell and W. O. Mendenhall will discuss the report and their own experiences with juvenile crime.

The address of the afternoon will be given at 2:15 p. m. by W. Harold Kingsley, who will discuss the subject, "Education and Democracy." Kingsley is public relations director for the California Teachers' association, Southern Section. All district chairmen will be expected to give one-minute reports.

CLUB SECTION MEETS

COSTA MESA, April 16.—The reading of letters and post cards from Miss Alice Plummer, president of the Arts and Crafts section of the Friday Afternoon club, and Mrs. Bertha Y. Davis, Miss Addie Yeaton, and Mrs. Emma Estabrook, all of whom are in a party motorizing to Worcester, Mass., was featured at a recent meeting of the unit. A poem by Mrs. Estabrook was included in the program. Mrs. J. A. Gardner, hostess for the day, presided at the luncheon hour. The unit secretary, Mrs. C. G. Huston, presided in the place of Miss Plummer.

Mrs. Edna E. Wells, chairman of the club's drama group, was hostess at a card and hearts party on the following evening. The party was held as a benefit for the section. Prizes were given and refreshments were served.

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, former residents of this city and now residing in Long Beach, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday night at Houghton Park, North Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Jones reside here many years and were prominent socially and in the Christian church.

A large number of church members including the pastor, the Rev. James G. Hurst, and his wife, attended from this city. The Christian church of Long Beach of which Mr. and Mrs. Jones are now members, was well represented.

Mrs. Emil Wickman Named President Of Beach P.-T. A.

LAGUNA BEACH, April 16.—Mrs. Emil Wickman was elected president of the Laguna Beach elementary school P.-T. A. at the annual meeting held recently at the Park Avenue school. She succeeds Mrs. C. A. Watkins, who has served out a full term of office. Other officers elected were Mrs. Roy Baker, first vice president; C. Addison Van Loenen, second vice president; Mrs. George Brandt, secretary; and Mrs. William Switzer, treasurer.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the regular meeting set for May 2, following which Mrs. Wickman will announce committee appointments.

Station masters have authority to change a train's schedule to accommodate a passenger who is late; this authority is rarely used, however, and only in an exceptional case of known necessity, such as permitting a patient to be taken to a hospital.

SWANBERGER'S

OPEN EASTER SEASON

Featuring quality clothing from America's leading manufacturers, Swanberger's Store for men, 205 W. 4th street, Santa Ana, opens the Easter season with one of the most attractive window displays in the country and a stock of men's fine apparel that makes selection of a new Spring Outfit an easy job for the most fastidious man.

Commenting upon this excellent selection of quality clothing, Walter Swanberger says: "I have been in the men's wear business for many years, but never have I seen such fine patterns, such excellence in tailoring, such fine styles as found in the fine hand-crafted suits we are now displaying."

"Here is the nation's finest merchandise . . . Kuppenheimer internationally known clothing . . . Timely clothes . . . Dobbs Hats . . . Berg Hats . . . and other famous brands — A class of men's apparel such as found only in the most select stores of our large cities now available to the men of Orange County at prices equal or lower than found elsewhere."

"We want the people of Orange County to inspect this fine merchandise and see for themselves what the better dressed men of the nation are wearing today."

Gifts to Be Forwarded To Bride-elect in Arkansas

Presiding at a unique pre-nuptial shower Saturday night in her home, 904 Kilson Drive, Mrs. Clinton W. Dozier honored her sister-in-law, Miss Pearl Dozier of Harrison, Ark., whose marriage to Clyde E. Renner of Richmond, Ind., is to take place in June.

Gifts brought by the guests will be forwarded to Miss Dozier, who made many friends in this community while on a recent visit to California.

Mrs. Clinton W. Dozier and Mrs. Ralph Dozier joined in giving the affair for the absent bride-to-be. Miss Cora Frances Dozier of Alhambra, wrapped the shower packages, which will be rewrapped and sent one by one to Miss Pearl Dozier in Arkansas. The first gift was to be sent today.

Citrus Belt Club Has Picnic at Irvine Park

Citrus Belt Picnic club, whose membership takes in United Spanish War Veterans posts and auxiliaries of the Southland, elected officers Sunday at an all day event held at Irvine park. Calumet camp of Santa Ana, Warwick camp of Fullerton and Long Beach camp No. 54 were hosts for the day.

Officers named were Jesse B. Johns of Long Beach, president; Williams Winters, Huntington Beach, vice-president; Frank Rowe, Santa Ana, secretary.

Walter W. Tantlinger of Santa Ana was chairman of the committee in charge. There was a musical program during the dinner hour. Arthur Corey of Buena Park and Commander Mason of McKinley camp, Long Beach, were speakers.

Seventy-five members and guests attended the picnic. Plans were made to have a picnic in June at Pomona. Flag day exercises will be under direction of Schreiber camp of that city.

Parent-Teachers

Officers were elected last week at an afternoon meeting of 300 P.T.A. held in the school.

Mrs. W. Donovan was named president; Mrs. Bratsch, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Patterson, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Cadwallader, treasurer; Mrs. Lily Comer, parliamentarian; Mrs. Rachel Bower, historian.

Respective plans were made for a school picnic to be held at Irvine park in June.

Students of Mrs. Bratsch's room entertained with readings, and were winners of the attendance prize for the day. Their mothers were on the refreshment committee.

Torosa Rebekahs

Brothers' Night was observed by Torosa Rebekahs at their meeting the past week in Odd Fellow hall, where Fields Rathbone acted as chairman for the evening's various features.

Several guests were paid special honor, the list including Mrs. Abbie Gould, past president of the Missouri Rebekah Assembly; Henry Mang, deputy grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment, and Mrs. Boutwell of the El Centro Rebekah lodge. Each gave a short talk.

Fifty members of the Pomona lodge were present to give the special feature of the evening, a presentation of an Odd Fellow lodge scene of 1792 in London. Wearing the costumes of the period, the guests put on the fifth degree of initiatory work as it was conducted in the early days of Odd Fellowship, making a program of unusual interest and many quaint details.

The flowers used to decorate the big assembly room added their charm to the scene, which was enjoyed by nearly 300 members and visiting Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. Program features were followed by a social hour in the banquet hall. Messrs. Fields Rathbone, Herbert Allen, M. C. Cooper and A. B. Chandler formed a committee serving fruit salad, wafers and coffee at tables gay with California poppies and bachelor buttons.

Friendship Night will be celebrated by Torosa Rebekahs at their meeting on April 24, and several candidates will be initiated.

Miss Grace Rowley's Sister Entertains In Her Honor

Miss Grace Rowley, who will sail July 20 for China to resume her missionary duties after a year's furlough, was honored at a party given recently in the home of her sister, Mrs. John W. Sauer, Yorba street.

There was a program including Southern songs by Mrs. George Gaylord; a reading by Mrs. E. R. Byrne, vocal duets by Mrs. Charles Smith and Miss Marjory Rawlings; flute solos, "Pale Moon" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Mrs. Robert Korff, with Mrs. W. S. Leinberger accompanying; violin solos by Mrs. James Blee; a vocal duet, "Kentucky Babe" by Mrs. Blee and Mrs. Gaylord. Mrs. Korff was at the piano as accompanist during the greater part of the program.

A travel game was followed by a contest in which a prize was awarded to the Rev. Calvin A. Duncan.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a table spread with a Chinese cloth and brightened with tapers and flowers in pastel tints. Mrs. E. H. Greenwood and Mrs. A. F. Hibbel poured tea and coffee.

Guests had planned a surprise for Mrs. Sauer, presenting her with gifts in celebration of her recent birthday anniversary. Invited guests included Messrs. and Mesdames F. H. Greenwood, James Blee, Robert C. Korff, George Gaylord, E. R. Byrne, A. F. Hibbel, Ransler Baker, Raymond West, Frank Carter, William Fisher, W. S. Leinberger, J. W. Means, Gavin Baxter, Charles Smith, the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin A. Duncan, Dr. and Mrs. Chester A. Day, Mrs. Margaret Suddaby, Mrs. Arthur Koepsel, Miss Emma Hield, Miss Marjory Rawlings, Walter Rawlings and Miss Grace Rowley.

U. D. C.

Mrs. E. F. Scattergood of Los Angeles, candidate for the division presidency of United Daughters of the Confederacy, was among guests present last week at a monthly meeting of Emma Sansom chapter U. D. C. held in the home of Mrs. M. C. Maloney, 1620 North Baker street.

Election takes place at the division convocation scheduled for May 8, 9 and 10 at Berkeley. Presentation of a ticket with names of all candidates was made at the chapter meeting.

Mrs. Scattergood, past historian of California division, gave a talk and took part in the day's program on "Native States" by reading a paper on "Education in Mississippi".

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Maloney, Mrs. J. K. Norton, Mrs. Guy Miller, Mrs. J. W. Taylor and Miss Louise Montgomery. Mrs. C. E. Price, president, conducted business matters. Plans were made to hold the next meeting Thursday, May 16 instead of May 9, because of the conflict with the convention dates.

Mrs. T. J. Haughton was in charge of the program during which each member gave interesting facts concerning her native state. Native Californians in the group were Mrs. C. E. Price, Miss Louise Montgomery, Miss Gertrude Montgomery and Mrs. Minnie V. Baxter. The latter told of the introduction of eucalyptus seed into California from Australia, by her relative, Bishop Taylor.

Strawberry shortcake, whipped cream and coffee were served on trays. Pink and white nut cups had been made by Miss Louise Montgomery.

Members received an invitation to attend a party on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 24 in Los Angeles, with members of Robert Lee chapter U. D. C. as hostesses. Those planning to attend are asked to get in touch with Mrs. C. E. Price.

Sycamore Rebekahs

Sycamore Rebekah lodge members held a "kid" party Saturday night in I. O. O. F. hall, donning costumes to represent such well-known characters as Whittier's "Barnet Fox", "Sunbonnet Babies" and others. Costume prizes went to Miss Hannah Horwitz of Anaheim and G. W. Stovall of Santa Ana.

A covered-dish dinner was served in the dining room at 6:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Pauline Decker as chairman. On her committee were Mesdames Lydia Phipps, Theresa Dunning, May Curtis, Emma Edgington, Valeria Crawford, Minnie Foreman and W. C. Dimmock. Mrs. Marie Bradford provided hot biscuits. Men of the lodge poured coffee.

Mrs. Millie West, noble grand, conducted a short business meeting, to precede entertainment. There was a country school, with Miss Letitia Morgan as teacher. Captains in an Easter egg hunt were Mrs. Laura Henderson and Mrs. Edna Gowen. Successful participants received baskets of eggs.

Announcement was made that the next meeting, April 26, officers will invite guests from this and other districts.

Santa Anan Arranges Varied Program for Orange Clubwomen

Interested in yesterday afternoon's program at Orange Woman's club, planned by Mrs. Marah Adams of this city for members of Third Economics section, several Quill Pen club members and other friends of Mrs. Adams, went from this city to share the interesting program.

This following the general club session conducted by Mrs. Donald Smiley, and opened with a talk on "Safety" by Captain Henry C. Meehan of the California Highway patrol, introduced by Mrs. G. L. Niles, section leader. Captain Meehan told of the safety program launched in December by the patrol to control the state's appalling record of 1934 with 2966 deaths from automobile accidents.

Asserting that violation of motor vehicle laws was responsible for the majority of such accidents, Captain Meehan outlined the simplicity of adhering to them. He in turn introduced George Stinson, famous "Singing Cop of Orange county," who with Mrs. Stinson as accompanist, delighted the audience with the songs, "Absence," (Melba), "Spirit Flower" (Campbell-Tipton), "Because" (d'Harlelot) and "Auf Wiedersehen."

Thomas E. Williams of the Junior College Fine Arts press was introduced by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, Orange librarian, as living up to the traditions established by John Gutenberg in the "moving art of printing." Mr. Williams talked of the "printing press" as expressed in the work of the college press, and the influence such work has in molding youth. The college plant, he explained, was a laboratory for the finding of the best use of different printing methods.

"We do not print for the critics," he declared, "but to learn and find out for ourselves. He illustrated his points by showing some of the successful experiments, including the use of canvas in the Navajo Indian book, the copper binding of Miss Ben-Lah May's "Buccaneer's Gold," and the original etching on the cover of the Jeddiah Smith book. These and many other volumes were available for the clubwomen's examination.

Concluding the program was a say travesty on a club committee meeting, written by Mrs. Adams and presented by the hostess section. In this play, with its amusing lines and situations, Mrs. Niles as the janitor, "Riley," scored success for her characterization. Although with such excellent work on the part of other members of the cast, it would be difficult to point to any one member as being above the others in the quality of work.

Mrs. H. O. Russell was "Mrs. Van Doren," club president; Mrs. William Batt as "Mrs. Rogers," program chairman, was constantly frustrated in her attempts to outline her program. Mrs. E. O. Pratt was "Mrs. Arlen," economics section leader more interested in contract than household affairs; Mrs. C. O. Powell as "Miss Aurelia Wright," saw in her own people the only possible entertainment, and opinion shared by Mrs. Elvira Otto as "Mrs. Gentle."

Mrs. John Harms jr., played the gushing "Mrs. Wonder," Mrs. C. E. Short was "Mrs. Green, garden section president"; Mrs. Fred Lentz was "Mrs. Morton" of the Young Matrons' section; Mrs. George Seba was the romantic and just-engaged "June Flowers"; and Mrs. R. M. Buckles as "Mrs. Coleman Younger," "Little Coleman Younger III." The cast and Mrs. Adams, author, jointly received congratulations of the audience on the clever skit, and Mrs. Adams was presented by Mrs. Niles, still in her janitor's costume, with a bouquet from the Santa Ana Quill pen club.

The afternoon ended on a social note with Mrs. Rex Shannon and Mrs. W. C. Neely pouring tea. The table, spread with Italian cut glass, and with yellow tapers, a handsome silver tea service to harmonize with the silver candlesticks.

Household Group Plans Bon Voyage Party For May

Making plans to compliment Mrs. S. A. Jones at a bon voyage party in May, members of Ebbl Fourth Household Economics section met recently in the clubhouse for luncheon. Mrs. W. E. Watkins was hostess, and Mrs. C. A. Westgate was hostess, serving luncheon at a table brightly decorated with flowers and tapers in yellow and white.

Mrs. J. F. Richards was program chairman, introducing her sister, Mrs. J. U. Vlau, who gave three humorous readings. Mrs. A. Thordike, leader, conducted the business meeting. It was decided to hold the next meeting Friday, May 3, a week in advance of the usual time. This will honor Mrs. S. A. Jones, who sails on May 6 for a round the world tour.

A nominating committee appointed consists of three members, Mesdames Ben Baker, S. A. Moore and C. W. Carter.

Following the program, members played bridge.

News of Ulrich-Means Marriage Told at Luncheon

Announcement of the marriage October 24, 1934, of Miss Virginia Means, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Therman Means of this city, and Kenneth Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ulrich of Lemon Heights, was made Saturday afternoon at a luncheon given at the Doris Kathryn. Mrs. Means and the new Mrs. Ulrich were co-hostesses at the event.

Guests learned that the young couple had exchanged vows at a quiet ceremony in Yuma, Ariz. Both the bride and bridegroom are students at the local junior college, from where they will graduate in June. They have taken up residence at 609 West Fifth street, apartment No. 3.

News of the October wedding was revealed by means of cards attached to candy caskets concealed in small pink bags at each place. Other appointments at luncheon tables were pink sweet peas and place cards designed in the same tint.

Games were played during the afternoon, with prizes going to Mrs. D. K. Wilkinson and Mrs. Thelma Pratt, who scored first and second high.

Mrs. Kenneth Ulrich is a graduate of Polytechnic High school, and is a member of Santa Ana Bethel Job's Daughters. Mr. Ulrich is past president of American Association of Engineers, and is employed after school hours in laboratory research work for the junior college. He is specializing in mechanical engineering, expecting to continue his studies next year at the university of California, Berkeley.

Invited to share the hospitality of Mrs. Means and Mrs. Ulrich were Mrs. E. E. Ulrich and Mesdames Loyce Seaborn, Corwin Frazer, Ruth Olson, Thelma Pratt, Shirley Seacord, Dora Goodwin, D. K. Wilkinson, J. W. Means jr., the Misses Jeannette Roby, Frances Roberts, Marian Baxter, Barbara Kiser, Vivian Maynard, Arline Morrison, Alberta Sanford, Parla Nell Clayton, Eloise Schrier, Margaret Haines, Edna Wilson, Audrey McDonald, Lorraine Wheeler, Carrie Kimball, Velma Forrester, Betty Stafford, Letitia Morgan, Fern Anderson, Ruth Johnson, Florence Ulrich, Harriet Ulrich of this community, and Miss Ida Raymond of Los Angeles.

Delegates are Mesdames W. C. Ahlman, Fred Alden, William Batt, Charles Bowyer, S. B. Edwards, Earl Elson, Edward Heath, George Bartley and Miss Emma Corson. Alternates appointed are Mesdames Fred Lentz, W. H. Johnson, W. H. Lowry, C. E. Lush, Rex Shannon, J. F. Stone, V. A. Wood and Charlotte Wallace.

Mrs. Alfred Higgins and Mrs. Henry Meier were appointed as an auditing committee to report at the end of the club year in June. The state convention was announced for May 16, 17 and 18 at Del Monte. Delegates and alternates to the event will be announced at the meeting of the club to be held May 6. On this date the Junior Woman's club will present a Mother's day program, with Miss Jean Jordan and Miss Doris Asher as hostesses.

Mrs. H. O. Russell, on behalf of the two garden sections of the club presented the club with about $70. proceeds from the recent flower show.

Two important events for the organization are a desert bridge and fashion show to be held in the early part of May, with Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake in charge.

PLAN MUSICAL NUMBERS FOR CHURCH SUNDAY

ORANGE, April 16.—Featured by the church choir of 30 voices under the direction of Perry J. Green, a program of musical selections, interspersed with readings from the scriptures on the importance of the resurrection of Christ to mankind will be given Easter Sunday beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church.

The musical program will include "The Strife is Over, the Battle Won," the words from the well-known hymn of that title set to music by Eric Thimant; an a cappella selection, "Easter Hymn," by Frank Bridge, a translation of the early 17th century "Let Joy and Praise to Heaven Rise," and the triumphant "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel, all to be sung by the combined choir. Mrs. Carl Pister will sing, "The Cross," by Harriet Ware, while an organ solo, "Marche Triomphale," by Memmens, will be played by Perry J. Green.

During the morning service, accepted favorites for Easter will be sung including "The Trumpet Shall Sound," to be sung by Thomas Richardson, and "Worthy Is the Lamb That Was Slain," to be interpreted by the choir. Both selections are from Handel's well-known "Messiah." A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

10 Cars Oranges Shipped In Week

ORANGE, April 16.—Ten cars of Valencia oranges were shipped during the past week over the Southern Pacific. The previous week six cars were shipped. The oranges were packed at the Santiago Orange Growers association plant. They are being exported.

Arrange Talk On Citrus Business In South Africa

ORANGE, April 16.—The Citrus Industry in South Africa will be the subject for a talk to be given tonight at the meeting of the West Orange Farm center at the West Orange school, with A. M. Kirkpatrick, research entomologist of the American Cyanamid and Chemical company, as the speaker. The meeting will open with a 6:30 o'clock dinner. A. F. Schroeder will preside.

Joe Witt, director, will give a report in the activities of the Orange County Farm Bureau. A musical program will be presented by George Stinson, "singing cop," and he will be accompanied by Mrs. Stinson. Capt. Henry Meehan, of the state highway patrol, will speak on safety education.

Dinner will be a covered dish affair with meat, coffee, rolls and dessert furnished by the center.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE ANIMALES

As Duncy led the small giraffe, the wee Dotty said, "Twould make us laugh, if you would ride upon the beast. Let's see you try it once."

"Oh, no," said Duncy. "It's too small. It really wouldn't work, at all. You're always thinking up for me, some very crazy stunts."

"However, I will do a trick that you'll agree is pretty slick. I'll let the small giraffe ride me. At least that's something new."

Across his shoulders he then spread the animal, and Duncy said, "I didn't think that you could do it. Three loud cheers for you!"

The owner soon cried, "Follow me. There still are lots of things to see. We have a tiny camel and a midwest polar bear."

"You'd like to play with them, no doubt. All right, come on! We'll let them out. Now, don't rush up too quickly, or you'll give them both a scare."

"Gee, does the bear bite?" Goldy said. "If so, I'll stay right here, instead." This made the owner smile. Said he, "Oh, you'll be safe and sound."

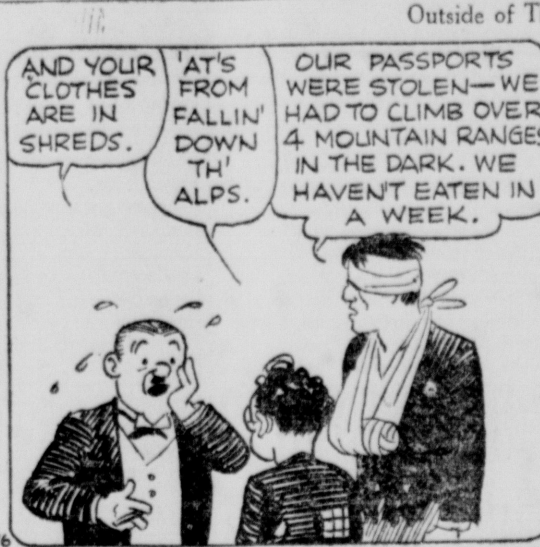

"My pets, you see, are very tame, and they'll be real glad you came. The little bear will frolic. You can chase him 'round and 'round."

The Tingles soon found this was true. The bear showed them that he could do a lot of crazy

Stories in STAMPS

FIUME, across the Adriatic from Italy, has Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italian poet and dramatist, to thank for its independence. The allies had seized the city from Hungary during the World War and, while Italy and Yugo-Slavia wrangled over its possession, D'Annunzio led a force into Fiume and took control.

The Treaty of Rapallo made Fiume independent, but D'Annunzio defied the powers for more than a year, even declaring war on his own country. But Italians bombarded the city and D'Annunzio fled.

One of the stamps of Fiume that depict this incident is shown here, an Italian sailor raising the Italian flag over the city.

New City Park, Bay Yacht Anchorage Proposed

WATER RATES IN BEACH CITY TO BE BOOSTED

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Plans for a community park in Corona Del Mar, which have been a subject of discussion for some time, were furthered last night by the request of the Corona Del Mar Civic Improvement association for the city to rent the old Corona Del Mar lumber yards and allow the bluffs community to improve it as a site for the park.

Through its secretary, Mrs. W. L. Williams, the association requested that the city pay rental charges on the property, said to be $6 monthly for the land, and $3 monthly for improvements, and allow the association to construct the playground. The group also asked that the old bluff road to the beach be re-opened by the city, in order to provide access to the ocean for residents of the community. The road was closed two years ago by request of palisades property owners.

Applies for Permit
Prospects of a new yacht anchorage for the harbor were seen when Capt. Harry Marshall, Los Angeles, made application for a permit to install floats and moorings on Collins island, in the bay adjacent to Balboa island, between bulkhead and pierhead lines. No action was taken on the request but Marshall was requested to present a detailed plan of his proposal at the next meeting of the council.

An ordinance raising water rates in the city of Newport Beach will be ready for a final reading at the next meeting of the city council, slated for May 6, following action of the council last night in passing the projected ordinance to its second reading, following recommendations of City Engineer R. L. Patterson for the raised rates.

Wants Booster Pump
Patterson, in his report, stated that the city was without an emergency water supply under the present set up and in case of necessity would be forced to buy water from Laguna Beach as it had done in the past. He urged the installation of an emergency well and booster pump and stated that a raise in water rates would be necessary to finance the work.

The ordinance will be drawn up by Patterson and City Attorney Roland Thompson. No definite estimate of how much the rates would be raised was given last night. Patterson stated the measure would be effective for only a year or two, until the work was completed. Under terms of the ordinance the turn on charges of the water department will be reduced from $2.50 to $1.50.

Communications
Communications were received from the California League of Municipalities in reference to proposed legislation on road work appropriations in cities, from the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce in reference to the opening of the Valencia orange season in June, and from the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce requesting sanitary legislation for boats in the harbor.

The proposed new roof garden for Balboa is still up in the air, owing to fire department regulations requiring two exits from a public meeting place. Only one stairway leads down from the proposed garden, on the roof of the McCulloch building.

Plan Community Church Services In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, April 16.—Holy week services will be held this week in observance of Easter, with all churches of the community taking part. Tonight's service will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. J. H. McCabe, pastor of the Free Methodist church, as the speaker. On Wednesday evening the members will meet at the Baptist church when the Rev. B. L. Howse, pastor of the Four-square church, will have charge. At the Free Methodist church on Thursday evening the Rev. Grover Ralston, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, will speak, while on Friday evening the meeting will be held at the Four-square Gospel with the Rev. Elmer Lyon, of the Baptist church delivering the message. Each church will furnish its own special musical program.

The local ministers invite the public to attend these special Easter services. Services will open at 7:30 o'clock.

TALK ON ORANGES FOR FARM CENTER

TUSTIN, April 16.—"The Valencia Market Situation" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Clarence Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, at the regular meeting of the Tustin Farm center at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Tustin Union High school cafeteria. Skiles will tell of his observations of the eastern market for Valencia oranges this season.

Miss Marjorie Carlisle, of Anaheim, will entertain with several humorous readings and Frank Pierce, of Santa Ana, will be in charge of musical numbers. The director's report of county activities and legislative matters will be given by Frank Latham, Carl L. Young, president, will preside. Light refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

CALIFORNIA AND AFRICA COMPARED

YORBA LINDA, April 16.—The economic and agricultural conditions of South Africa were compared with those of Southern California by E. T. Kirkpatrick when he talked before the Yorba Linda Farm center meeting Monday night. Kirkpatrick illustrated his lecture with illustrated pictures.

S. L. Marshburn presided. Members of the missionary society of the Friends church served dinner at the Woman's clubhouse prior to the meeting.

P. J. Ton brought the director's report from the farm bureau. Ruth Allen of Placentia gave two readings.

Eric Eastman reported that a new 4-H club has been organized with George Martin leader. Nine members have enrolled. Announcement was made that the Associated Chambers of Commerce will meet at Yorba Linda April 30 and the Imperial Highway association will meet at Pomona April 27.

OBSERVE 53RD WEDDING EVENT OF LA HABRANS

LA HABRA, April 16.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stamps, of South Hiatt street, were honored Sunday afternoon when they were surprised by their children and their families on the event of their 53rd wedding anniversary. Sharing honors with them was their daughter, Ona Lee, who arrived Saturday from Memphis, Texas. The family circle was complete on this occasion with the exception of one of the children who could not attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Stamps were married in 1882 in Howard county, Arkansas, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Chambers. The couple lived on a farm near the home of the parents until 1897 when they moved to Oklahoma, which was then the Indian territory. The trip was made in a covered wagon and it took one month to travel the 300 miles. The four head of cattle owned by the couple were driven along with them on their journey. In Oklahoma they cleared their land and built a log cabin where they lived for the first year, later building a home where they resided until 1921, when they came to La Habra.

Mrs. Stamps has many lovely heirlooms as well as homespun coverlets and counterpanes which she spun herself on an old fashioned spinning wheel. She also prepared and dyed those coverlets, which are woven in fancy designs, with indigo blue, green, red and gray. Mr. and Mrs. Stamps are the parents of nine children, eight of whom are still living.

A potluck dinner was served at the 53rd anniversary in celebration of their 53rd anniversary and the couple received many lovely gifts from their guests.

Those attending represented four generations and included Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stamps, of Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stamps, of Buena Park; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Stamps, Mrs. Ona Ritch, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Walker and two sons, Jimmie and Willis; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Anglin and two children, O. C. Ritch, all of La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. Leadrus Stamps and son, of Torrance; Mr. and Mrs. Leonidas Stamps and son, of Redondo Beach, and Mrs. L. W. Pearson of Redondo Beach.

Society Told Of Missionary Work

TUSTIN, April 14.—Feeling at the home of Miss Marion Carson, members of the "Mu Lambda" missionary society of the Tustin Presbyterian church shared an interesting evening. A basket of yellow and white flowers centered the large dining table where a potluck dinner was enjoyed by the girls at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Marshall gave a talk on "Tolstoy" and Miss Eleanor Leiby told about missionary work in China. Plans were made to meet May 14 at the home of Miss Gertrude Pollard.

Those present were the Misses Helen Ferguson, Eleanor Leiby, Gertrude Pollard, Mertie Wilson, Lauris Adams, Virginia Carson, Marian Carson, Marjorie Rawlins, Meadames Lester Carson, Charles Marshall, Alma Stevenson, R. E. Carwell and Calvin A. Duncan.

Port Dredge In Drydock For Repairs

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Work of removing sand from the harbor entrance to Newport bay was temporarily discontinued this week, when the San Pablo, government hopper dredge, was forced to go into drydock at the Bethlehem shipyards for repairs.

Damage to a rudder post, believed caused when the craft scraped over the Newport bar at low tide, caused the temporary tie up of the craft. Officials are contemplating installation of an entire rudder section, which would mean a week or more of work in order to service the craft.

TWO CANNERIES PROPOSED FOR NEWPORT BAY

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—At the same time officials of the Certified Sea Food company were requesting city officials to dredge the channel leading up to their cannery, from Twenty-sixth to Twenty-eighth streets, word was received that the Hovdon Cannery company, of Alaska and Monterey, had contracted for property on the channel at Thirtieth street, and contemplated the installation of a cannery as soon as the government dredging program was completed.

The northern concern is reported to have completed negotiations with Capt. G. Purney for the site recently acquired by the Balboa Packing company, which had planned to start a small cannery this year. The Balboa Packing company had been issued a permit to operate a cannery this year and a reorganization was effected before they could put their plans into operation.

R. C. Corf, president of the Certified Sea Food concern, made application two weeks ago for what he termed necessary dredging into the company docks. According to reports of City Engineer R. L. Patterson, the dredging asked for would cost in the neighborhood of $1000, and there is some doubt that the city would be able to finance it.

A special meeting of the city council has been called for Friday morning to consider the question. Corf stated today that his concern was ready to commence operations as soon as deep water to the cannery landing was available. Approximately 190 will be employed.

LUNCHEON HELD BY SILVER ACRES CLUB

SILVER ACRES, April 16.—Members of the Silver Acres Women's club held a luncheon and club meeting at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Buckner, an Second street in Santa Ana recently with Mrs. Lydia Wiede assisting as hostess. After the luncheon a business meeting was held with Mrs. Ben Drake, the president, presiding.

It was voted to change the day for club meetings from Thursday to Wednesday. The club decided to hold a public card party next month in Legion hall in Garden Grove. To promote friendliness, the club membership will adopt "mystery friends" for the coming year. After the business meeting, a shower was held for Mrs. Bertha Slate.

Those present were Mrs. Sivila Bishop, Mrs. Grace Neff, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. Pauline Patterson, Mrs. Gladys Head, Mrs. Ruth Melvin, Mrs. Plo Baker, Mrs. Plo Patterson, of Santa Ana Gardens; Mrs. Bertha Slate, Mrs. Ben Drake, of Garden Grove; Barbara and Janice Neff, Joanne Davis, Blossom Head, Donna Neff, Shirley Bishop, Joyce Davis, Shirley Melvin, Mrs. A. Melvin, Mrs. Lydia Wiede, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Buckner, Mrs. Raymond Davis and Mrs. Ben Drake will be hostesses for the next meeting.

The club will hold an all day picnic May 1 at Anaheim park.

NEWPORT BOAT VICTORIOUS IN HARBOR RACES

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Another yachting championship came home to Newport harbor over the week end, when William Bartholomew sailed his sloop Mys-tary to two straight wins in the fourth annual gold cup series, for six meter sloops, held Saturday and Sunday at Los Angeles harbor.

Saturday the race was strictly between the Mystery and Don Douglas's Gallant, which last year captured the champion, with the Mystery finishing three minutes and 54 seconds in front over the 12-mile course. Bill Slater placed third in the Lanai, coming in with the protest flag flying.

Sunday Bartholomew finished nine minutes and 52 seconds ahead of the field, to clinch the championship, covering the course in two hours, 16 minutes and 40 seconds. Second was AYAVAY, sailed by Russ Simmons, in 2:26:32. Bill Slater, in the Lanai, finished third, and in last place was the Gallant.

PUPPET SHOW IS GIVEN BY SCOUTS

WESTMINSTER, April 16.—With parents and friends as guests, Westminster Girl Scouts gave a puppet show at the Presbyterian social hall recently. Two features, "East of the Sun and West of the Moon," and "Alabama and the Forty Thieves," comprising the program. The puppets were fashioned by the girls. Miss Virginia Neen, Miss Nellie French and Miss Elsie Franzen assisted the girls in the preparation of the puppets and the show.

Character parts in "East of the Sun and West of the Moon" were Haruko Furushiro, Marguerite Fogler, Martha Lindman, Ella Mae Hyllton, Norlene Condit, Maybelle Jones, Lois Graybrooks, Linda McDaniel, Mary Jo Cobb, Frances Christopher, Masame Kokowa, Patricia Heath, Maryellen Morgan and Betty McCann.

In the second play, parts were taken by Marjorie Kawahara, Betty Juhl, Julia Day, Haruko Furushiro, Yukiyo Furushiro, Beatrice Knapp, Geraldine Logan, Mary Jo Cobb, Louise Husk, Winifred Walton, Betty McCann.

Miss French, Scout captain, presented Scout badges at the close. A first class badge went to Linda McDaniel. Second class badges, which were the first to be presented in this troop, went to Winifred Walton, Mitsuko Yumaguchi, Linda McDaniel, Frances Christopher, Martha Lindman, Maybelle Jones, Helen Adamson.

"Cub" badge awards went to Patricia Heath, Julia Day, Geraldine Logan, Marguerite Fogler, Mary Jo Cobb, Norlene Condit, Haruko Furushiro, Helen Adamson, Betty McCann, Bettyuhl, Marian Prindle, Lois Graybrooks, Ella Mae Hyllton, Marjorie Kawahara and Dorothy Sork.

MILD SHINN RITES CONDUCTED TODAY

SAN CLEMENTE, April 16.—Services were held at the Divil Funeral home in San Clemente at this afternoon for Milo Russell Shinn, 46-year-old Dana Point resident, who died of infection in Santa Ana late last Saturday. Last March 2, Shinn was hit on the head by the handle of a truck he was cranking. He was taken to the hospital and apparently made a speedy recovery. Infection set in, however, and he was taken back to the hospital April 2.

Mr. Shinn is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Shinn, of San Clemente, and two brothers who reside in San Francisco. Interment was made in Melrose abbey.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MILLENCE GRIMOLD, secretary to GEORGE DRIMOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. In panic she runs away and registers at a hotel under an assumed name. JARVIS HAPP, distinguished-looking, handsome, intelligent and offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty parlor where she is transformed into a blonde. Happ takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. His son, NORMAN HAPP, who is a student at the local college, meets her, and she tells him a mysterious woman in black dress has some power over her stepmother.

Millicent falls asleep. A noise wakes her and she finds a note under her door reading: "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent dresses, sees the woman in black drive away, and follows in Robert Caise's coupe, but runs out of gas. She walks home, sees a light in the chauffeur's quarters and enters. The chauffeur is dead. Millicent, frightened, returns to her room. She has taken the suitcase of books which Jarvis Happ gave her to audit, substituting another suitcase.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XV
Millicent tore at the fastening of the suitcase with frenzied fingers, pulled back the lid and found that the interior was filled with a miscellaneous assortment of books which, by no stretch of the imagination, could possibly have been books of account involving the business dealings of Jarvis Happ and Richard Gentry.

It looked very much as though someone had hastily gathered a miscellaneous assortment of books, such as could be picked up at random. These books had been hurriedly thrust into the suitcase, apparently without regard for order, and when the suitcase had been picked up some of the books had fallen open.

Millicent stared at the open suitcase. Evidently the substitution had been arranged so that she could not notice what had happened until she started work on the books. The two suitcases seemed to be approximately the same size and of the same general appearance. And the plan would have worked had she not happened to notice the straps which were on the original suitcase.

At first Millicent thought she would communicate with Jarvis Happ at once. Then she decided that she would keep her own counsel. She was already mixed up in so many strange situations that she dared not make complete explanations. She was so utterly fatigued that her brain seemed numb. She closed the suitcase, staggered wearily to bed, and this time found drowsiness almost instantly overtaking her. She had so many problems, so much to occupy her mind that there was literally nothing to worry about—rather, there was so much that she could not concentrate on any one problem. She dropped off into dreamless slumber.

Millicent was awakened by knuckles pounding upon the panels of the door. She opened her eyes and found that the clouds had disappeared. The sun was streaming in through the windows and the angle of the sunlight showed her that she had slept very late indeed.

She bounded from bed, reaching for a robe.

"Who is it?" she asked.

"The voice which answered was unmistakably that of Jarvis Happ. "Please open the door," he said in guarded tones.

Millicent gathered the robe around her, took a swift look at herself in the mirror, and could hardly refrain from giving an exclamation of surprise at the strange features which stared back at her. She remembered then, with a flood of conflicting emotions, the events of the last few days—the beauty shop where she had been transformed from a blond into a brunette.

She hurried to the door, turned the key and opened it.

Jarvis Happ entered the room. "I thought," she said, "from the tone of your voice it was urgent, so I didn't stop to fix my hair or put any color on my face."

"Thank you," he said, closing the door carefully behind him. "It is very urgent, and I didn't wish to be seen standing in the corridor in front of your door. The police will be here in a few minutes."

"The police?" Millicent asked, her eyes growing wide with alarm as she thought of all that might signify.

"Yes," he said.

"How long ago was... was it discovered?"

"Just a few minutes ago."

"How did it happen?"

"We all of us slept late this morning," he said. "It had been rather a trying day yesterday. I could well appreciate how utterly exhausted you were, and I myself, had been under something of a strain."

"However," Happ said, "I wanted to go to town. I pressed the buzzer which summons my chauffeur. As you may have found out, Harry Felding was my own personal chauffeur. He enjoyed my unlimited confidence and served me one but me."

"Usually it is but a few minutes after I press the buzzer before he is at the door with the car. This time, after some 15 minutes, I pressed the buzzer again, thinking that perhaps he had overslept. When he didn't answer, I started an investigation. The housekeeper told me he had not been in for breakfast, so I went to his room. He sleeps in a room over a shed in the back, a room which is isolated from the rest of the house. He was dead. He had been shot, and died almost instantly."

She nodded her head mechanically.

"There was," he said, "just one thing which may be considered as a clue, a clue so intimate in its nature that I didn't want to trust it to the hands of the police."

She raised her eyebrows.

"Perhaps," he said, "you will understand what I mean when I show you the clue. It was something which I found in the bathroom."

over the bit of linen and lace.

"Say nothing about this to anyone," he said. "I am going to identify it positively, and when I identify it, I am going to take drastic steps."

"Happ turned, noiselessly opened the door, looked out into the corridor, then nodded reassuringly to her and slipped out, closing the door behind him."

Millicent stood quivering.

As it possible that Happ didn't know that was her handkerchief? Showing her the handkerchief was either a gesture of confidence on his part or else it was an attempt to shake her composure so that she would make a confession, but that that had been his purpose, it had succeeded so admirably that he certainly would have followed up his advantage. As it was, he seemed to pay no attention whatever to her reactions.

The police were coming!

That realization struck her into Millicent Graves' very soul. The police would undoubtedly question everyone. They would question her! The police would also want to know something of her past history. How could she account for her whereabouts during the past few months without letting it appear that she was the secretary who had been working for George Drimold?

The secretary who had been dubbed "The Murder Girl" by the newspapers and for whom the police were now carrying on an intensive search.

Suddenly Millicent realized something else. Her clothes would undoubtedly show the wetting they had received the night before. The police would examine those clothes and would ask her where she had been...

She scooped up the clothes, ran with them to the closet, rumpled them and thrust them into a corner of the closet. The fur coat, she hardly knew what to do with. Finally, however, she decided that she dared do nothing but left it on a hanger in the closet.

Suddenly a disquieting thought assailed her.

She thrust her hand down into the pocket of the fur coat. The leather key container, with its keys suspended in neat assortment from the swivelled hooks, was in the pocket of the fur coat. That would never do!

She pulled out the key container, intent upon hiding it. She had just withdrawn her hand from the pocket of the fur coat when she heard motion behind her.

The first glance from the corner of her eye chilled her blood with fear.

Robert Caise stood in the door of the closet, leaning at her!

WHAT WILL THE ADMINISTRATION DO IN THE ECCLES CASE?

"What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Now it appears that Marriner S. Eccles, Governor of the Federal Reserve board, divested himself of investments, in order to qualify for his position, in the same manner that Andrew W. Mellon did when he became Secretary of the Treasury.

That is, he turned his investments, represented by stock certificates and bonds, over to members of his family and claimed that he was no longer interested.

The political opposition has presented a sorry spectacle in Mr. Mellon as they have had him on the stand in the committee room, where he was forced to admit all of those facts, plus another one.

This one was probably more serious than the others. It seems that the committee had dug up the fact that Mr. Mellon had obtained from Mr. Blair, who was the Collector of Internal Revenue during Mellon's reign, nine ways in which the income tax could be legally evaded.

In fact, Mr. Mellon said on the stand that he needn't have paid any tax if he had used these different methods. It was found that he had used most of them, and there was exposed a communication between him and Mr. Blair that showed that this was deliberately done.

But now comes Mr. Eccles and he is forced to admit that he had turned over his controlling stock in a fifty million dollar chain of banks to a holding company which is controlled by his family. Then he takes his position as Chairman of the Federal Reserve board.

Either those who have been investigating Mr. Mellon must admit "they were just bluffing and it wasn't a serious matter," in any case, or they must drop Mr. Eccles from consideration.

To be sure, people who are busy making considerable profit themselves are not generally aroused over officials using their position for personal profit.

Unfortunately, it has grown to be the expected thing that men shall do these things, and they reach these positions, as a rule, by making contributions of considerable size to the campaign fund of the successful candidate.

In fact, contributions of this character are additional investments. They pay larger returns than almost any other.

This was undoubtedly true of Mr. Mellon, whose influence was so tremendous in the enactment of tax laws and of tariff laws and other legislation, in which his financial institutions and his aluminum business were largely interested.

We will watch with interest the attitude which is taken by the leaders of the administration in respect to the evidence that has been disclosed in the Eccles case.

ONE WAY OUT

A recent happening in New York City provides a rare example of courage and determination and at the same time indicates one way in which the results of the depression can be overcome.

Press dispatches carried the story of a 78-year-old man and his wife, who were reduced from an income of $50,000 a year and a life of luxury with a fine home, servants and automobiles, to a meagre existence in a cheap one room flat, when the depression wiped out the man's candy manufacturing business and chain of 15 stores.

He sat day after day at the window staring into space. His wife urged him to keep his courage and not to moan. "I'm not moaning, I'm thinking," he would reply. One day he came home with an armload of fresh vegetables and started work at the small stove. His thinking had evolved a new process of crystallization and saving vegetable sugars and he made a new type candy bar from inexpensive materials.

Then day after day he left home early in the morning, returning late in the evening, tired out, but refusing to tell his wife what he was doing. Finally one day the wife's sister found the answer.

She had seen him standing in front of a big theater, with a tray suspended from his neck, peddling candy. It was a theater he had often attended in other days, driving up in his expensive auto.

When the wife asked him about it, he said he had not had the courage to tell her he was peddling candy on the streets, but that he had made and saved almost enough money to open a store again.

What inspiration this should be for those even much younger who have met reverses. Determination, thought, courage and work paved the way out of a seemingly desperate situation. He did not sit back and depend on others to find the solution for him. He did his part and found the public, on which all must depend in some manner, did its part for him.

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE IN EUROPE

The situation in Geneva does not appear to be entirely clear.

Certain dispatches coming from there yesterday declared that Italy, France and Great Britain had agreed upon a triple alliance standing by France's attitude in her condemnation of Germany's position.

Other dispatches declare that Great Britain refused to join Italy and France. The facts will soon become clear, though it is very probable that Great Britain has held aloof from this combination.

France, from a military point of view, is in a precarious position. She will probably never be stronger, in relation to Germany, than she is at this moment.

If conflict is to come finally, she wants it now. And she is determined to place such an untenable alternative before Germany, if she can do it, that either Germany must recede from her announced position or the nations will unite against her.

The smaller nations, represented in the League, refuse to join France in this attitude. But she will make her protest to the council alone if need be.

France has had a wonderful opportunity in the years since the war. If she had carried out the plain language of the compact, instead of being headed toward greater armament and certain war, we at least would have had an opportunity to test what would have occurred with universal preparations for peace.

The Allies, after forcing Germany to disarm, have weakened their moral position before the world by refusing to consider seriously that part of their compact, in which they agreed to also disarm, as worthy of any consideration.

A later dispatch from Geneva has just come in, which indicates Great Britain has strongly allied herself with Italy and France.

THE AMBASSADOR FROM ARIZONA

The state of Arizona has commissioned an ambassador to Washington. The last session of the legislature voted to keep a man in Washington to see that Arizona gets its share of the plums the federal government is doling out to the states. His salary is to be $7,500 per annum, and we hope he will earn his wages.

Arizona has two senators in Washington and one representative. The representative is Isabella Greenway, a Democrat, a friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, and a charming, attractive, cultured and able woman.

Why could not these two senators and this able and cultured woman look after Arizona's interests? Is it not what they are in Washington for?

Perhaps they are too busy keeping their political fences in repair, too busy writing letters to their clamoring constituents which have not the forthrightness of a letter sent by Representative McGroarty of Tujunga, to one of his critical constituents, in which he told him to take two jumps to a place not mentionable in polite society.

Arizona wants a diplomat with soothing speech, who can be all things to all men, who has the diplomatic gift of using speech without saying anything.

If he gets no more in Washington than the average diplomats get for their countries in foreign capitals, his job will not last very long. And then, too, how many men has Arizona obtainable for $7,500 who can out-influence some of the able and persuasive representatives in Congress from many of the other states?

More on Japanese Competition

Christian Science Monitor
Appendant to our remarks on the agitation to subject Japanese cotton textile imports to a limited embargo is available in the current report on economic conditions in Japan issued by the Department of Commerce. It gives the latest record of Japanese-American trade. In December, last year, and January, this year, when Japanese textile exports started to flow into the United States in accelerated volume, the figures (in thousands of yen) were:

	Dec. 1934	Jan. 1935
Japanese purchases from U. S.	113,454	92,325
Japanese sales to U. S.	36,477	34,677

In other words, Japan is buying three to four times as much as she is selling in her trade with the United States.
Comparative figures do not show any diminution in Japanese purchases in the United States. On the contrary, they show a big increase. American exports to Japan in January, 1934, being only $1,877,000 yen, as compared with $11,454,000 yen in December, 1934, and $12,325,000 yen for January, 1935. Japan has thus doubled its purchases in a year. It has increased its sales, too, but not in the same proportion, the advance being from $3,892,000 yen in January, 1934, to $4,677,000 yen in January, 1935. Any action on the request for a limited embargo on imports of Japanese textiles which affect one section or one industry should take into account this thriving export trade, affecting several sections and industries—a trade which might be sacrificed by an embargo.

Singing in the Shower

Santa Barbara Daily News
The London Observer, confuting aspersions as to the quality of English humor, has posted a prize of three guineas for a "song to be sung in the bath, which need not bear any relation to grammar or sense."

Despite this handsome reward, it is doubtful that a really popular song for the bath will ever be written. Shower bath singing—and it is only the cold shower, with its icy needles bringing the breath in healthy gasps, that is conducive to singing—is highly extemporaneous. The really accomplished bathroom vocalist may start with a bar or two of the Volga Boatman, essay a few notes at random, and break into something in weird minors that sounds like Rimsky-Korsakov's "Hymn to the Sun."

The wild abandon of bathroom singing is not known to the bath who fills his tub to the brim with water, adjusted to a point where he can just stand the immersion of his big toe, and who then slumps into it for half an hour's doze. Nor does the hot, or even the tepid shower, give rise to vocal effort. The gulping intake of breath from the impact of cold water alone provides the lungful of air needed for this kind of opera.

Naturally, such inspired (perhaps "expired") would be more accurate) singing cannot be bound by the convention of written music. Probably the London Observer's contest will bring out some novel compositions, but we predict only failure for any attempt to popularize them.

Quick, Watson!

San Diego Union
It was no shock to us to learn last week that Mr. Jerome Parenthesis Dizzy Dean had accepted $5000 from a St. Louis baseball fan—it being hinted that this was a premium to induce Mr. Dean to contract to continue pitching for the St. Louis Cardinals. It was a shock, though, to learn that Mr. Baseball Commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis had summoned Mr. Dean to him to explain the acceptance of this gift. We have read the late reports which credit Mr. Dean with having explained satisfactorily that the $5000 was pay for radio appearances by Mr. Dean, but we must admit that we were shaken to find out that Judge Landis's official eminence was occupied by a gentleman who had to have such matters explained to him. Why does anybody accept $5000? Judge Landis did not need to send for Mr. Dean—he could have asked the family next door.

The What-Is-It

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

LET'S BE FAIR

On reading an antiquarian's assertion that breweries were in existence in 4,000 B. C.

The men of Four Thousand, B. C.,
I supposed were a dull stolid clan.
Who never went out on a spree
Or tilted the foam-laden can.
I fancied these fellows were dour and morose,
And easily lashed into fury,
But never would think
Of imbibing a drink
Or quaffing a draught in a brewery.

But the muck-rakers, always disposed
To discover and broadcast bad news,
Have tried in the past, and disclosed
That these ancients were bear-cats for brews.
They say our progenitors wasted their time;
They declare they were wicked and idle,
And often sat 'round
On the palm-shaded ground
Tanking up on the stein and the seidel.
It doesn't seem clabby or fair
To pick on a long vanished tribe;
Pray what should we modern folks care
If our ancestors chanced to imbibe?
No doubt they had failings, and most of us do,
I admit that we need not adore them;
I am chary of praise
For their bibulous ways,
Yet I'll still say a kindly word for them.

Thoughts On Modern Life

UNIVERSITIES ABOVE THE BATTLE

Some seven years ago Abraham Flexner lashed out with his critical shillies against American universities in general and state universities in particular for having wandered far from what he conceived is the authentic function of universities.

In his Rhodes Trust lectures at Oxford in 1928, Mr. Flexner battled magnificently for his austere conception of the role of the university in the life of the time.

In the light of the carnival of joshing to which university men loaned to the Brain Trust are being subjected, Mr. Flexner's notion of the relation of universities and university men to world affairs becomes again interesting to consider.

In Mr. Flexner's judgment, a university should be kept a kind of walled city of refuge in which scholars and scientists, without responsibility for action, concern themselves solely with four major enterprises, viz:

- (1) The discovery of knowledge.
- (2) The interpretation of knowledge.
- (3) The conservation of knowledge.
- (4) The training of future scholars and scientists who will carry on this triple enterprise of discovery, interpretation and conservation in still other universities or bring the breadth and objectivity of its discipline to their careers at the higher professional levels. The training of practical men, who, faced with the responsibility for action, will do the best they can is not, in Mr. Flexner's judgment, the business of the university.

Its sole business, he thinks, is to serve the interests of scholarship broadly conceived as the quest of understanding.

The university must not, he insists, undertake to serve society directly. It must be content to serve society indirectly through the factual illumination, critical insight and heightened sense of values that flow from the university's disinterested quest of understanding.

Mr. Flexner would keep university research both in the natural and in the social sciences surgically clean of any intimate concern with use and practice. He would have the university look upon society always as a guinea pig but never as a patient.

Is this a valid ideal for the American university? I shall not presume to speak for the great privately operated universities, but tomorrow I shall say a word from the point of view of the great state universities of the United States.

COMPLEXIONS

DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS: Growing boys and girls who have reached the self-conscious stage of the teens have trouble with their skins. Pimples are a bothersome trial. Dull skin given to frequent eruptions of one sort or another is a common scourge. The children try to cover the annoying effects of these difficulties with powder and paint. That is a mistake.

Paint and powder will not cure a skin defect. They are more likely to make it worse. Health is the cure for skin troubles. It is easy enough for young people to attain it and along with it the beauty of youth than which there is no greater loveliness in all the world.

Youthful skins need a good soap. This need not mean a highly colored and strongly perfumed soap. It does mean a soap free from strong elements that burn and dry the skin. Get a mild soap, one that is made of clean fat, one that smells good to you. Use it with plenty of warm water. Cleanliness is the foundation of a healthy beautiful skin.

If pimples are bothering you wash well with your favorite soap and warm water. Rinse off with warm clear water. Pat your face dry with a soft towel. Now take a bit of ice in a white linen rag and ice the skin softly. Don't hold the ice on any one place but this every day for a while. It will help.

Attend to your diet. You love sweets. That is because you need the energy the sugar gives you. Don't overdo it. Go as lightly as you can on desserts and still get enough sugar for daily needs. Eat vegetables. Plenty of them. Drink water, as much as you like and more. Water keeps your skin clear and its color good. Sleep long nights with fresh air in your room. Walk a couple of miles every day. Keep happy in your mind. If you do this your skin will soon be glowing like the rose.

School girls need no paint and powder. Grownup people use them because they want to have as lovely skins as the school girls have. Age destroys the texture and color of the skin, especially if it has been overdone with cosmetics. Leave these for the grownup people who need them. You don't need them because you have what they are supposed to give you in far better quality and truer beauty.

Girls and boys want to be beautiful to look at and that is as it should be. The trouble is that they go the wrong way about it. They think that such simple everyday things as vegetables, fresh air, exercise and healthy thoughts have nothing to do with such an important matter as beauty. They have all to do with it.

Beauty is deeper than health. It is the flower of health. Health of body and health of mind. Cultivate these and you need no help from the beauty counters. Wait until your age demands them.

Yours, A. P.
